The Southern Ute and Ute Mountain Ute Tribes of Colorado convened at the State Capitol last week in recognition of Ute Nations Day, as proclaimed by Governor Jared Polis on Friday, April 14. Tribal dignitaries held one-on-one meetings with the Governor and his chief staff as well as breakout sessions to discuss important topics amongst the state's two sovereign nations.

The annual event is coordinated through the Colorado Commission of Indian Affairs (CCIA), whose office serves as the official liaison between the State of Colorado and the Southern Ute Indian Tribe and the Ute Mountain Ute Tribe. The Commission ensures direct contact and meaningful engagement with the Tribes and with Colorado's urban Indian communities.

TREASURER'S REPORT

Reservation Economic Summit 2023

By Marvin Pinnecoose,
 Treasurer
 SOUTHERN UTE TRIBAL COUNCIL

Marvin Pinnecoose
 Treasurer
 Southern Ute Tribal Council

From Monday, April 3rd through Thursday, April 6th, I attended the Reservation Economic Summit in Las Vegas, Nev. The purpose of this summit is to bring about a collaboration among tribes to find common wins and identify obstacles for on-reservation economic development. The summit consists of general sessions where the entire assembly gathers in a large ballroom to hear keynote speakers, U.S. Government officials, and testimony from experienced people in the field. The summit also highlights multiple break-out sessions every hour and allows participants to go from meeting to meeting based upon the scope of information that is sought after.

There was also a Trade Show going on during the summit. Various tribes, tribal businesses, and interested organizations set up to showcase their products and services. Our Southern Ute Growth Fund represented well and used this opportunity to network among the people. Many things that caught my eye at the trade show that could benefit our membership.

There was a company who develops tribal I.D.s that have the authority to replace U.S. Government passports. The I.D.s feature security features and the necessary serial numbers. I also came across a Native distribution company that is establishing their foothold in the northern states. This company is Native owned and wants to focus on transporting Native goods between Canada and the northern states of the U.S. Business is good and they are looking to expand in the lower states this coming year. There were also various companies who specialize in products and services that could benefit the Southern Ute Tribe as well.

In terms of the Summit, there were three very big takeaways that were mentioned by different tribes. The first key topic was entrepreneurship or business development, the second was food sovereignty, and the third was economic development corporations.

The first, food sovereignty, focuses on the idea of Native tribes not being dependent on outside sources of food. The United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) took the lead in explaining how food growing and processing is seeing a large spike in federal funding under the Biden Administration.

Many tribes have taken advantage of growing their own food and the

CULTURAL EXCHANGE

Golden seniors say hello during Senior Seminar!

Golden High School students pay annual visit to Tribe

By Divine Windy Boy
 THE SOUTHERN UTE DRUM

Students from Golden High School makes their annual visit to the Southern Ute Indian Tribe as part of their Senior Seminar trip throughout the Southwest. For two days the students experienced great hospitality from multiple departments and divisions of the Tribe all while learning about the culture of the Southern Ute people, gaining insight to the Tribe's operations, and feeling a strong sense of community. The tour spanned two days, beginning on Tuesday, April 11 at the Bison Pasture and concluded on Wednesday, April 12 at SunUte Community Center.

The tour is coordinated by Robert Ortiz of The Southern Ute Drum each year, led by Social Studies teacher, Mike Mendoza. The Golden High School group has visited the Tribe ten times — since their first trip in 2012. Golden students arrived on the reservation on Monday, April 10 and set up at the Sky Ute Fairgrounds Exhibit Hall to get rested before the tour began the following day. Students enjoyed a traditional buffalo stew and frybread meal, provided by Sam and Ernestine Maez, upon arrival. As part of their Senior Seminar for their last semester the students travel the nation, camping in most locations. After their tour of the Southern Ute Indian Tribe the students hit the road and began their journey to visit other neighboring tribes and historic natural landmarks in the Southwest.

On Tuesday, April 11 the students paid a visit to the Tribe's bison pasture, where they attended a presentation from Bison Herd Manager, Jesse Lasater. Throughout the rest of the tour the group visited the Wildlife Division staff, went on air at KSUT Tribal Radio, toured the Southern Ute Cultural Center and Museum, learned to round dance with the Southern Ute singers, and the Southern Ute Royalty. The Cultural Preservation Department also gave a presentation showing Bear Dance and Tribal Fair footage from previous years. The students concluded day one with a presentation from the Southern Ute Growth Fund.

The following day, students began their tour day two with SUIIMA Principal, Mari Jo Owens and the students of the Southern Ute Indian Montessori Academy. Students received a history presentation from Southern Ute Drum Media Archivist, Fabian Martinez, then stopped by the Tribal Council Chambers to discuss their tour with members of the Southern Ute Tribal Council. Wrapping up the tour the group met the Southern Ute Drum newspaper staff, toured Tribal Information Services, Justice and Regulatory, and the SunUte Community Center.

Throughout their trip, students and guides expressed their joy and gratitude to everyone who was involved in making their tour a success. The group felt welcomed, and many students explained how this trip has greatly impacted them and will long be a great memory. From the Southern Ute Reservation, the students then traveled south to visit neighboring tribes and explored national monuments such as Canyon de Chelly. Golden High School chaperones expressed their gratitude and their desire to see this cross-cultural collaboration continue for years to come.

Gearing up for Bear Dance

As the Bear Dance season approaches, families throughout the Ute nations begin to prepare for this time-honored spring celebration. Southern Ute tribal member Rhianna Carel irons her t-shirt cutout during the sewing class hosted by the Cultural Preservation Department on Tuesday, April 11. Classes for dresses, skirts, and shirts will continue every Tuesday and Wednesday for the remainder of the month.

During the sewing class, Southern Ute tribal elder Willette Thompson shared patterns with other participants and gave helpful tips on sewing. Thompson guides Southern Ute tribal member Kaylynn Weaver as she adds sleeves to a small ribbon shirt, being made specially for her nephew.

USDA has a program that pays tribes to pay themselves for the food that is grown on the reservation for their own people. The deadline for most of this funding is May 2nd and many tribes are taking this very seriously and looking to get millions of dollars to start greenhouses, animal acquisition, building feeding facilities, and developing animal processing centers.

An area of particular interest for the Southern Ute Tribe could be animal processing. Here in our area, the wait to process livestock is backed up by three months or longer. People are having to schedule their slaughters for the following year just to get on the calendar. If we had our own processing facility, we could also process animals for non-tribal members to retrieve funding in the long term. There is clearly a market for this, and it would allow the Tribe the opportunity to create and sell our own Southern Ute poultry, pork, beef, or bison. This would also get us one step closer to the goal of enabling the Tribe to manage our own herd of cattle. This is crucial in the Tribe's ability to sustain farming and ranching in our area. This is our heritage, and we need to take steps to preserve it.

The next issue of entrepreneurship and business development focused on giving start up business-minded people the confidence to launch and grow their own businesses. Seven different break-out sessions focused on this topic and the steps needed to avoid common pitfalls that many entrepreneurs face when navigating regulations, permitting, insurance, taxes, and such. There were plenty of resources and contacts provided during each session.

The third issue is the concept of an economic development corporation that resides within the Tribe. This is by far the most important take-away that I got from this summit. Our tribe has the Permanent Fund which is basically the Tribal Government and then we have the Growth Fund which is our business arm. The Southern Ute Growth Fund has a primary responsibility to seek ventures that have a high rate of return which comes back to the Tribe either in money for the Tribe or in capital to return to more projects. The problem with this is the expected rate of return. In order to pursue local business ideas, we would need to think beyond the rate of return. This is where other Tribal Economic Development Corporations have found wins and opportunities within the boundaries of their own reservation that are seen as more of a community investment or good will.

This is the bridge to a "hometown" win here on our reservation. This could be the vehicle that creates the food processing facility. This is the vehicle to build a business incubator here on the reservation. This is the brain center of tribal member ideas and implementing those ideas. I hope that it is something that we can bring actualize here at the Southern Ute Indian Tribe. Currently it appears that two development corporations are taking the lead in Indian Country. The first is the San Pasqual Economic Development Corporation and the second is the Dine Development Corporation. Both tribes made a strong showing at RES 2023.

These three very important topics of the Reservation Economic Summit can be very beneficial to the Southern Ute people, and I am hopeful that our tribe will find it worthwhile to look into each of these.

HISTORY COLORADO

Augmented reality pairs with millennium old pottery

Staff report
 HISTORY COLORADO

History Colorado announces a collaboration with Virgil Ortiz, an award-winning artist and visionary hailing from Cochiti Pueblo, whose works have been displayed at museums around the globe. This partnership will result in the one-of-a-kind exhibition: Virgil Ortiz Revolt 1680/2180: Runners + Gliders which brings Indigenous Futurism to the Mile High City when it opens May 13, 2023, at the History Colorado Center.

Using projection mapping and augmented reality alongside centuries-old Cochiti sculptures and Ancestral Puebloan pottery that dates back a millennium, Virgil Ortiz Revolt 1680/2180: Runners + Gliders bring Ortiz's stunning visions of the future to life. The result is a dynamic conversation between Ortiz and his artistic ancestors that spans centuries—and leaves you with new perspectives on what lies ahead.

"Runners + Gliders is the most artistically adventurous thing we have ever done at History Colorado," said Jeremy Morton, Public Engagement Manager at History Colorado. "It provides us an opportunity to think about time and history differently, to look back into the past, and forward into the future, in a way few history museums have ever tried."

ing power in North America, the 1680 Pueblo Revolt, Virgil Ortiz Revolt 1680/2180: Runners + Gliders spotlights themes of justice and resistance to oppression. Additionally, it reimagines Puebloan pottery that dates back a millennium, Virgil Ortiz Revolt 1680/2180: Runners + Gliders bring Ortiz's stunning present and future into an immersive artistic experience.

Virgil Ortiz Revolt 1680/2180: Runners + Gliders transports viewers to the year 2180 and introduces Ortiz's newest characters in the artist's long-developing "Revolt" storyline: Runners + Gliders. These characters are inspired by the historic figures Omtua and Catua who were integral in the success of the 1680 uprising

Serving as messengers during the 1680 rebellion, Omtua and Catua delivered knotted cords made of deer hide which served as coded messages to the Pueblos of what is now New Mexico. The leaders of each Pueblo were instructed to untie one knot on the cord every morning and when the final knot was undone the Pueblos were to revolt simultaneously.

Although Ortiz works in many mediums, he is best known as a ceramicist from a long line of Puebloan potters, and this is on full display in Virgil Ortiz Revolt 1680/2180: Runners + Gliders.

"Clay is the core of all my creations," Ortiz said. "My work centers on preserving traditional Cochiti culture and art forms. It's important to recognize that Pueblo communities are very much alive and have a level of vitality that speaks to generations of strength, persistence, brilliance, and thriving energy."

In celebration of this exhibition's opening, the History Colorado Center is hosting an opening reception on May 18 from 6 – 8 p.m. This reception includes light refreshments, a cash bar, and remarks from Ortiz and Dawn DiPrince, executive director of History Colorado. While this event is free and open to the public, RSVP is required.

BEHAVIORAL HEALTH

BEE HEARD: The effects of domestic violence on children

By Marlene Schaffer,
Substance Use Therapist
SO. UTE BEHAVIORAL HEALTH

The Effects of Domestic Violence on Children

To have a better understanding of the effect of domestic violence on children, it is important to understand the complexities of domestic violence and how it is defined.

Domestic Violence

Domestic violence can happen to anyone regardless of social economic status, race/ethnicity, sexual orientation, or religious beliefs. Domestic Violence is more than physical abuse – it is about one person's need to gain power over, and to control, their partner – it includes the belief that there is a right to exercise and maintain that power and control by whatever means necessary.

Domestic violence is a pattern of abusive behavior committed in dating, living together, or being married. Domestic Abuse exists in many forms and can include:

- Isolation from family and friends
- Emotional abuse
- Monitoring/Stalking
- Controlling the finances
- Physical and sexual assault
- Intimidation and verbal abuse

The Center for Family Justice reports that:

- On average, 3 women are killed by a current or former intimate partner each day in the United States (Bureau of Justice, Bureau of Justice Statistics).
- 1 in 4 women have experienced severe physical violence by an intimate partner (National Intimate Partner & Sexual Violence Survey).
- 1 in 4 men have experienced some form of physical violence by an intimate partner (National Coalition Against Domestic Violence).
- 1 in 7 men have been victims of severe physical violence (National Coalition Against Domestic Violence).
- 1 in 4 victims of intimate partner violence identify as lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender or queer (National Coalition of Anti-Violence Programs).
- 66 percent of female stalking victims are stalked by a current or former intimate partner (National Stalking Resource Center).
- Domestic violence costs more than $8.3 billion a year in medical care, mental health services and lost work productivity (Centers for Disease Control and Prevention).
- The impact of the abuse ripples through a family, affecting not only the victim, but the children as well.

Silent Victims – The Children

- More than 15 million children witness domestic violence each year in the United States (Journal of Family Psychology).
- 3,500 to 4,000 children witness fatal family violence annually in the United States (National Task Force on Children Exposed to Violence).

- Children from homes with violence are much more likely to experience significant psychological problems short and long-term (U.S. Department of Health and Human Services).
- Domestic violence in childhood is directly correlated with learning difficulties, lower IQ scores, deficiencies in visual-motor skills and problems with attention and memory (Journal of Family Violence).
- Children in homes with violence are physically abused or seriously neglected at a rate 1500% higher than the national average (Journal of Interpersonal Violence).
- Those who grow up with domestic violence are 6 times more likely to commit suicide and 50% more likely to abuse drugs and alcohol (Trauma, Violence & Abuse).
- Children who witness domestic violence are at an increased risk for post-traumatic stress disorder, aggressive behavior, anxiety, impaired development, difficulty interacting with peers, academic problems, and they have a higher incidence of substance abuse (Childhood Abuse & Neglect).
- Children who witness and experience domestic violence are at a greater risk for adverse psychosocial outcomes (Trauma, Violence & Abuse).

Research has indicated that domestic violence exposure significantly increases the odds of children not meeting language, personal-social, and fine motor-adaptive milestones by age, 3 compared with non-exposed children.

Research has indicated that Domestic violence exposure has been linked to several poor child health outcomes such as colds, flu, headaches, stomachaches, aches or pains, or fatigue.

Impact of Domestic Violence on Children

Domestic violence has a devastating impact on children and young people that can last into adulthood. Exposure to domestic violence negatively affects children of all ages from infancy to adolescence. Children exposed to domestic violence have a higher risk of developing behavioral, mental health, cognitive, social, physical health, and physiological problems.

Behavioral

Aggression – Most studies have found that exposure to domestic violence was related to more aggressive behavior in preschool children, in elementary school age children, and in adolescent children.

Mental Health

Researchers have consistently demonstrated that children who have been exposed to domestic violence have higher levels of anxiety and depression symptoms compared with non-exposed children.

Trauma Symptoms

Researchers have consistently shown that exposure to domestic violence is related to higher numbers of posttraumatic stress symptoms in children.

Cognitive Functioning

Researchers have suggested an indirect effect of domestic violence exposure on cognitive functioning through the child's sleep quality, as quality of sleep has been shown to be diminished by domestic violence exposure.

Social Outcomes

Researchers have suggested that exposure to domestic violence was significantly related to more aggressive behavior in preschool, which in turn, was related to decreased pro-social skills in elementary school. Research has also indicated that children who are exposed to domestic violence are at an increased risk of bullying perpetration toward their peers.

Physical Health Outcomes

Researchers have suggested that Domestic violence exposure has been linked to several poor child health outcomes such as colds, flu, headaches, stomachaches, aches or pains, or fatigue.

Research has indicated that domestic violence exposure significantly increases the odds of children not meeting language, personal-social, and fine motor-adaptive milestones by age, 3 compared with non-exposed children.

Physiological Outcomes

Researchers have suggested that children who face chronic or acute toxic stress, such as exposure to domestic violence without safe and supportive adult relationships, may develop dysregulated stress response systems.

Summary:

Exposure to domestic violence is a widespread problem that affects children in the short term and over the full course of their lives. Research shows that there are detrimental long-lasting consequences for children exposed to an early age, particularly when considering that key developmental milestones are missed or delayed.

It is important that children who have been exposed to domestic violence engage in trauma-informed interventions and supportive services, such as counseling, to reduce the negative effects of domestic violence exposure.

COMMUNITY HEALTH

Health fair by 365 Health coming to Ignacio April 29

Free and affordable health screenings to be offered

Staff report
365 HEALTH

Health Fairs by 365 Health, formerly 9Health Fair, are back this March through mid-May at more than 40 locations across Colorado, and residents in and around Ignacio will be able to receive access to free and affordable preventive health screenings and resources on Saturday, April 29 from 7-11 a.m. at Ignacio High School located at 315 Ignacio St.

For more than 40 years, the nonprofit has saved thousands of lives by providing equitable preventive health screenings to millions of Coloradans through its thousands of community health fairs. Last year the organization changed its name to 365 Health to better reflect its expanded mission of providing products, services, tools and resources to help Coloradans stay healthy 365 days a year, and today it remains the largest volunteer-driven, nonprofit health, wellness and prevention effort in the nation.

“Preventive health care is essential for maintaining good health, disease and illness prevention, and early detection and diagnosis when treatment is easier and more effective,” said Gary Drews, CEO of 365 Health. “During COVID-19, Americans delayed or avoided entirely their routine preventive health care, and appointments have yet to return to pre-pandemic levels, resulting in a reduced ability to prevent or manage chronic disease and an increase in preventable deaths.

“Last year alone saw nearly half of all adults and roughly two-thirds of uninsured people in Colorado postpone medical care, according to the Colorado Health Foundation. A health fair is typically the best and lowest cost option to deliver preventive health care and improve equitable access and health outcomes.”

The free and affordable, low-cost health screenings offered at Health Fairs by 365 Health vary from site to site but can include blood pressure, vision, dental, stress and more. For more information about the Ignacio health fair and the available screenings that will be offered, or to make an appointment, visit <https://365health.org/health-fairs/spring/665/> screenings. For a complete list of statewide health fair locations, dates and times, visit <https://365health.org/healthfair-locations/>.

While walk-up screenings will be accepted, registering ahead of time is recommended. Medical professionals will be onsite to offer advice and assistance and help participants to decide which screenings are right for them.

“Recently, I hadn’t been feeling well so my sister-in-law urged me to attend a Health Fair by 365 Health in Greeley. Less than 48 hours after attending the health fair, I received a call from a nurse who informed me that my thyroid blood test level was less than .01 and that I should contact my doctor,” said Terri Thomas of Loveland. “I did so right away and had further tests run and was diagnosed with hyperthyroidism. Through additional tests, I ultimately learned I was suffering from Graves’ disease. Had I not attended the health fair, I believe I would still be seeking answers. I’m feeling much better and am on the way to recovery, thanks to 365 Health staff and volunteers.”

“Our community-based health fairs and the free and affordable health screenings that are available are a necessary resource not only for Coloradans who lack access to preventive health care, but also those who have high deductible insurance plans or no insurance at all,” Drews said.

For those unable to attend a health fair, 365 Health and Quest Diagnostics have partnered to offer the same affordable health screenings at Quest Diagnostics Lab Patient Centers (PSC) located across Colorado. No doctor’s visit or insurance is needed.

Each year, 365 Health relies on the dedicated support of volunteers to offer free and affordable health screenings and help improve health awareness. Those interested in volunteering for a community health fair are encouraged to visit <https://365health.org/volunteer-1/>.

SOUTHERN UTE HEALTH CENTER

This is the second in a series of four articles this year about the effects childhood experiences can have on people throughout their lives. In the January article, we talked about negative childhood experiences and the lifelong impact they can have on physical and mental health. This month we will shift the conversation to the protective effects of positive childhood experiences.

The great news is that just as traumatic experiences in childhood can impact people into adulthood, loving and supportive experiences in childhood can also impact people into their adult lives. In 2015, a research study was done in Wisconsin that asked adults about their mental health and also about positive experiences they had in their childhood. The researchers found that if a person had positive experiences as a child, they were less likely to have mental health struggles as an adult. They also discovered that the more positive experiences a person had as a child, the better their mental health was as an adult. More good news: the effect was the same for adults who had negative and difficult experiences as children. This means that even if hard things happen to a child, if they also have positive experiences, it can protect their mental health as adults. They are saying there is great hope!

In the next article, we will dive into what exactly is meant by positive childhood experiences and figure out how we can support youth in these protective ways.

For more information about negative and positive childhood experiences check out: <https://centerforyouthwellness.org/>, <https://www.cdc.gov/violenceprevention/aces/index.html>, or <https://positiveexperience.org/>.

BOBCAT BULLETIN

Greetings from Ignacio Middle School

By Dayna M. Talamante-Montoya, Principal
IGNACIO MIDDLE SCHOOL

This second semester has flown by. We have had some exciting things happen at the Ignacio Middle School. For the first time in five years, we held a school wide spelling bee this semester. Each language arts grade level class held class competitions and the top 12 students competed in the second round with six heading to the final round. The final three were:

- Kirstyn Jameson, 1st
- Brandon Guzman-Griego, 2nd
- Selia Montoya 3rd

We are so proud of all of our students for stepping out of their comfort zone and competing.

We also held two honor roll breakfasts (One in January and the other in March) to honor our students who made a 3.5 or higher GPA. There will be a district wide Academic Awards Banquet on Monday, May 1 beginning at 6 p.m. at the Ignacio High School auditorium. Invitations should arrive shortly. Academic Awards is a recognition of those students who have achieved a 3.5 GPA for three quarters. It is a fabulous honor.

We also held a Character Counts activity right before spring break. We held our annual lock-in where students spend an evening in the school watching movies, eating snacks, and playing games. It has been one of the favorite rewards students have had over the years.

We just completed state testing. Thank you to parents and guardians for getting your students to school on time every day for testing. We had one of the best years of attendance for state testing. We held a BEAT CMAS assembly to encourage and explain to stu-

Students attended the Colorado State Science Fair in Fort Collins, April 13-15. Congratulations to IMS' Paisley Vezeau and Selia Montoya as well as high school students Dylan Brann, Autumn Schulz (received three awards, including a 1st place) and Max Montoya (received honorable mention).

Ignacio Middle School

Students why the test is important and to follow four simple steps:

1. Behavior, don't do anything to distract your neighbor.
2. Effort, don't rush through the test-there is time.
3. Attendance, be at school each day to avoid makeups.
4. Thoroughness, go back and make sure you answered every question.

We know testing is hard, but it is an important part of education and even entering the workforce. Also, in terms of testing, we have five students in the 8th grade that will be taking the PSAT test next week.

We had two students who made it to compete at the state level for the science fair from the middle school and three from the high school. Students attended the Colorado State Science Fair in Fort Collins organized by Mrs. Redman, April 13-15. Although our middle school students didn't receive official awards the experience was invaluable. Congratulations to IMS' Paisley Vezeau and Selia Montoya for their time and effort in producing experiments worthy of the state bid, as well as high school students Dylan Brann, Autumn Schulz (received three awards, including a 1st place) and Max Montoya (received honorable mention).

In terms of athletics, IMS has students participating in both track and soccer. Our track athletes looking to break PR's and soccer has enough students in its second year to have both an A and B team. Coach Duffy and Coach Jen Seibel are head coaches for track and Coach Talamante and Coach Lucero are coaches for soccer. All athletic events can be found on our website under athletics.

We are winding down our semester with our last month of school. We will be sending out summer school information soon, be on the lookout for it. As well as 5th and 8th grade transition tours will be happening. Our BAC meeting will be next Tuesday, April 25 at 4:15pm. We have a Facebook page and an IG page (@ignaciomidschool for both), please subscribe to keep up to date on info.

I have a lot of interests, I'm not quite sure what I would do but when I grow up, I would like to be either a chef, doctor, veterinarian, or a professional athlete. I have been nominated Southern Ute Tribal Student of the Season for Winter 2023 because my teachers feel I have a very positive attitude about school, respect teachers and peers – I am a very fun person!

Stephan Romero is nominated by Southern Ute Education Teacher, Julie Stone: "It is a pleasure to nominate Stephen for this honor. He is well liked by teachers and other students; he is so much fun to be around! Teachers say, 'Stephen is the best! He makes us so happy and inspired, his attitude is so positive, and he is a joy to teach,'" – Julie Stone.

His family comments: Stephen is so much fun to be around, he makes friends everywhere he goes and can usually be seen with a football in his hand. He's very caring, goofy, and makes us laugh with his dancing, joking, and singing. Stephen has done so well this year keeping up with school while playing sports. We are so proud of you Stephen!

IGNACIO COMMUNITY LIBRARY

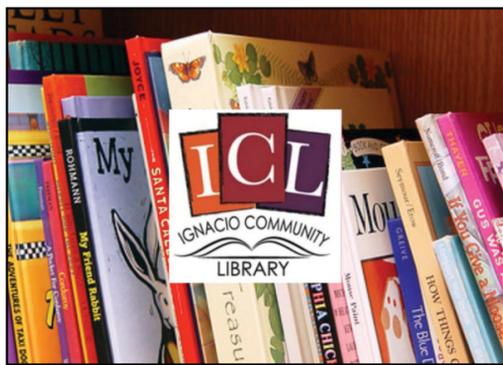

There's more to the story

By Marcia R. Vining
IGNACIO COMMUNITY LIBRARY

National Library Week is April 23rd through the 29th and is a time to celebrate our nation's libraries and library workers as well as promote library use and support. The theme for National Library Week 2023 is "There's More to the Story," illustrating the fact that in addition to the books in library collections, available in a variety of formats, libraries offer so much more. Many libraries, including yours, now lend items like state park and museum passes, games, digital devices, and tools. Library programming brings communities together for entertainment, education, and connection through book clubs, story times, movie nights, maker groups, and lectures. And library infrastructure advances communities, providing internet and technology access, literacy skills, tech support and support for businesses, job seekers, and entrepreneurs.

On Wednesday, April 26 in the middle of National Library Week we celebrate National Library Outreach Day. Formerly known as National Bookmobile Day this name has been changed to reflect the expansion of library services to adapt and meet the needs of the public we serve.

Here in little Ignacio our library lacks none of these additions and is proud to provide our community with an ever-expanding

list of services, programs and equipment to meet the needs and feed the ambitions of our patrons. So it is with great excitement that Ignacio Community Library has acquired a Mobile Library, our newest addition to reach underserved and underrepresented communities. Formerly a 14-seat activity bus, it is being remodeled and reconfigured to meet its new mission and should be on the road by summer. The library staff is currently gathering suggestions and forming plans and partnerships for Mobile Library activities. More than likely Mobile Library duties will include remote story time and makerspace, business services, computer access and will act as a mobile hotspot. Of course, we will have a selection of books and DVDs for checkout and will be providing a delivery service for reserved titles.

ICL is also looking for the public's help in naming the new mobile library. Bookmobile may seem like an obvious choice but as mentioned previously libraries are much more than books and a name that reflects these characteristics may be more appropriate. So, we are asking for your input and suggestions for names at this time. Some bookmobiles have been named after famous authors, others have catchy phrases such as Mobile Tomes, Obey the Read Limit, Traveling Libraries, Paperback Rider and Novel Approach. Please come in and add to our survey or call us with your suggestions.

If you have not had a chance to visit our library, please make a date and come in to see what we have to offer. Visitors from all over the country remark on how nice the building is and marvel at the wide choice of opportunities awaiting the curious. Schedules of programs can be found in the newsletter which can be accessed online with paper copies available at the library and soon to be available on the Mobile Library at a location near you.

the State of Colorado and sovereign Tribal governments is founded on a strong government-to-government relationship – Ute Nation's Day and the opportunity for the Ute tribes to have a seat at the table with state leadership is essential to that process. Following the formal recognition ceremony on Friday morning, both Southern Ute and the Ute Mountain Ute Tribal Councils had an opportunity to meet with Colorado Governor Jared Polis and Lt. Governor Dianne Primavera to discuss matters of importance to each of their respective sovereign nations.

"Ute Day at the Capitol is one way we strive to honor the state's earliest stewards who have lived off and cared for the land long before Colorado became a state," Lt. Governor Dianne Primavera said. "We are grateful for the Southern Ute Indian Tribe and Ute Mountain Ute Tribes' continued legacy here in our state."

"We also acknowledge the Indigenous communities that once called this land home; but no longer reside in Colorado due to the violent and manipulative actions perpetrated by federal and state governments," Primavera said. "We must remember our past in hopes that we can offer solidarity and partnership in the present and greater opportunities for Coloradans living on and off tribal lands in the future."

Concerns raised directly to Governor Polis and the Colorado Commission of Indian Affairs by the Southern Ute Tribal Council included, revenue from online sports betting, illegal gambling within the Southern Ute Indian Reservation boundaries, future funding of the state's Office of Liaison for Missing or Murdered Indigenous Southern Ute Vice-Chairman, Lorelei Cloud addresses a few of the Tribe's concerns during a closed meeting with Governor Polis, Lt. Governor Dianne Primavera and the Colorado Commission of Indian Affairs to discuss tribal issues at a state level on Friday, April 14.

Relatives – while also stating the need for more active engagement in the prevention and resolution of MMIR cases in Southwest Colorado – and the progress and support of a bill that would allow for Native students to wear their traditional regalia during formal commencement (graduation) ceremonies.

Tribal Council was also invited to attend a set of breakout sessions held in the State Services Building adjacent to the Colorado Capitol that afternoon, topics of discussion included Veterans Affairs, the Indian Child Welfare Act and Workforce Development. Members from each of the Ute councils attended the split sessions and provided ideas and feedback for their respective tribes, while also having the opportunity to meet face to face with key department heads on issue resolution, and future opportunities.

The formalities in the Colorado State Capitol building earlier that day began with a formal invocation in the Ute language by Ute Mountain Ute elder, Terry Knight Sr. and a Color Guard presentation by the Southern Ute Veterans Association. The Rocky Mountain Mustang Drum Group filled the halls of the Colorado Capitol with powerful singing – delivering an Honor Song and Flag Song in recognition of Ute Nations Day.

Governor Jared Polis and Lt. Governor Dianne Primavera each took turns giving recognition to Colorado's longest continuous residents – the Ute tribes. Southern Ute Chairman Melvin J. Baker and Ute Mountain Ute Chairman Manual Hart welcomes attendees and spoke to the importance of tribal sovereignty for future generations following the reading of the Ute Nations Day Proclamation by Governor Polis.

"We also want to acknowledge the tribes who call Colorado home – thank you for the many tribal leaders here today and the wealth of knowledge, tradition, and pride they bring to our Capitol today," Lt. Governor Dianne Primavera said. "It's an honor to partner with you. Thank you to the Rocky Mountain Mustang Drum Group for their powerful Honor Song and Flag Song to fill the halls of our state capitol. That was truly an impactful way to begin a meaningful day."

Miss Southern Ute, Grace Gonzales and Miss Ute Mountain, Iyonia Pavisook were recognized along with members of the Southern Ute Royalty and Ute Mountain Ute Royalty – of all ages. The tribal royalty and visiting dignitaries were then invited to a formal recognition in the House and Senate chambers. Colorado State Senator, Jessie Danielson (Democrat, Dist. 22) spoke on behalf of the State Senate, welcoming the Ute tribes and tribal royalty, while also recognizing the important legacy that the Utes hold for Colorado – both past and present.

Accompanied by Southern Ute Councilman Marvin Pinnecoose, the Rocky Mountain Mustang Drum Group filled the halls of the Colorado Capitol with powerful singing – delivering an Honor Song and Flag Song in recognition of Ute Nations Day.

The Southern Ute Indian Tribe's Legal Department Director, David Smith – sits alongside tribal royalty during the Ute Nations Day recognition in the Colorado Senate Chambers.

Ute Mountain Ute Chairman, Manual Hart takes to the podium during the Ute Nations Day program to welcome attendees – emphasizing the importance of tribal sovereignty in the State of Colorado for the Ute tribes.

Slow start costly in IHS' 6-1 loss

By Joel Priest
SPECIAL TO THE DRUM

Not one to truly blow a gasket, even as a motivational tactic in the heat of battle, Ignacio Girls' Soccer head coach Alisha Gullion admitted she'd shocked herself with how fiery her halftime talk Saturday afternoon, April 15, to her team ended up being.

Hoping to see the sort of improved movement and energy which had helped the Lady Bobcats hound 3A Bayfield in a 4-2 road loss on the 11th, the skipper effectively informed her squad she hadn't yet seen anything close as match-hosting Montezuma-Cortez sat on a comfortable 5-0 cushion at intermission.

"They're kind of used to counting themselves out before we even start playing," she had said after IHS fell to BHS, but appeared to exit Wolverine Country Stadium with a sense of capability renewed by seniors Harmony Reynolds and Laci Brunson scoring one goal apiece, plus senior goalkeeper Trinity Strohl racking up 18 saves. "I know that they get in their heads sometimes, like, 'Oh

Bobcats bomb Burros, 20-1 and 20-0

IHS explodes in distant Park County

By Joel Priest
SPECIAL TO THE DRUM

Not often can a baseball team say it scored more runs in a game than the thermometer counted degrees.

On Saturday, April 15, however, Ignacio authoritatively did just that.

And not once, but twice at a struggling South Park's expense.

Taxing the limits of the Burros' pitching, the Bobcats followed up a six-inning, 11-1 home win the previous afternoon over 2A/1A San Juan Basin League rival Nucla with four-inning victories of 20-1 and 20-0 up in Fahrenheit-lacking Fairplay.

"You know, I expected them to go up there and do about the same thing they did here," said IHS head coach Duke Baker. "I expected them to do their jobs and follow through, and we won both games. I expected nothing less of these boys."

And even with the temperature, colder than already expected, reportedly only in the upper teens, the 'Cats (6-3, 3-0 SJBL) stayed as warm as possible by spending as little time out in the field as possible; the squad scored at least three runs in each inning except the doubleheader's very first, in which IHS tallied just a scratch.

But that brief, innocent look was certainly deceiving. And after ending the second inning having cut the guests' growing lead back down to 4-1, the 2A Southern Peaks Leaguers felt Ignacio's full fury the rest of the way in falling to 1-8 overall.

In Game 1, IHS senior Eppie Quintana - who'd fired a complete-game no-hitter on the mound against NHS - went 2-for-4 with a double, reached via two SPHS errors, scored three runs and plated three. 1-for-3 against the Mustangs, senior Zane Ignacio's Stoney White Thunder (10) greets Nucla's Steele Arnold with a successful tag denying the Mustang a steal of third base during action Friday afternoon, April 14, at IHS Field. The Bobcats dominated the Mustangs 11-1.

Olguin improved to 3-3 with a walk, three runs and one RBI while again batting in the nine-hole.

Scoring two runs and plating one, junior Rylan Maez ended up 2-for-3 with a triple and was hit by a pitch. Junior Phillip Quintana was plunked once and drew a conventional base-on-balls in finishing 2-2 with a triple, two runs and one RBI. Freshman Stoney White Thunder went 1-3 with a walk, run and RBI, and junior Elliott Hendren went 1-1 with a walk, two runs and one RBI.

Losing pitcher Dyllan Newman (3.1 IP, 18 R, 10 ER, 5 BB, 3 K) ended up 1-for-2 with a triple, and scored the locals' only run against IHS junior Devante Montoya (W; 4 IP, 2 BB, 8 K) via a groundout off the bat of fellow junior Justin Miller (0-2).

Phillip Quintana would start and finish Game 2 on the hill, earning the win after allowing just one hit, bean-balling one Burro but walking none, and striking out ten - or one less than the number of fielding errors South Park reportedly committed.

After going to a rare 0-for-5 atop Baker's order in the opener, Montoya went 2-4 with two runs plus a ribbie. Rylan Maez whacked another triple - giving him a three-bagger in three consecutive games - and finished 1-3 with a hit-by-pitch, three runs and one batted in. Phillip Quintana went 1-3 with a triple, walk, three runs and three RBI in his own support, and Eppie

IHS wins four events at home meet

By Joel Priest
SPECIAL TO THE DRUM

Heaving the heavy sphere 37 feet, 3 inches, Ignacio junior Kyle Rima placed first in the shot put, and the Bobcats' 1,600- and 3,200-meter relays also finished first as IHS' boys came in fourth on their side of the April 8, 2023, Abel Velasquez Invitational.

All told, the 'Cats earned 76 team points at their home meet, landing them behind only Durango (89), Pagosa Springs (90) and 2A/1A San Juan Basin League rival Dove Creek (96) as 12 teams factored into the final standings.

Running the 4x400 race, Ignacio sophomore Kendrick Nossaman, freshman Lincoln deKay, senior John Riepel and junior Corey Gomez brought the baton across the finish line in a winning time of 4:00.18, beating second-place Bayfield's entered quartet by 6.36 ticks. The only two schools represented in the 4x800 event, IHS' foursome – freshmen James Martin, Dillon Brann and Trace Crane, plus Gomez – again bested the Wolverines, 10:00.25 to 10:30.57.

Rima also threw well in the discus and placed second with a best throw of 103 feet, 7 inches. deKay placed second in both the 110- and 300-meter hurdles – clocking 18.67 and 47.77 seconds, respectively – and Nossaman was runner-up in the 400m dash (56.20). Martin placed third in the 1,600m run (5:31.90), Riepel flew a fourth-place 17'7.5" in the long jump and added fifth-place points in the Rima-paced shot (32'4").

DCHS senior Kendall Gardner finished second with a 36'4" best, and Durango junior Leith Davis was third with a 34'7".

Crane placed sixth in the discus (89'11") and deKay did likewise in the pole vault (8'8") with freshman Zane Pontine following in seventh (8'2"). Freshman Norman Hackett placed seventh in the triple jump with his 28'9.5" best.

Junior Maci Barnes led the Lady 'Cats with her first-place result in the 800m run. Clocking 2:34.23, she finished 5.46 seconds ahead of PSHS junior Annie O'Donnell, and earned ten of Ignacio's sixth-place 37 team points. O'Donnell and the Lady Pirates, however, piled up 160 and earned the team title over second-place Durango (96) and SJBLers Nucla (64).

Junior Kacey Brown posted a time of 6:43.16 and scored second-place points in the 1,600 meters, and IHS was also runner-up in the 4x400 with freshman Juliann Avila, Brown, junior Lauren deKay and Barnes combining for a 4:55.05 trailing only Durango's 4:51.88 (a blazing 11.66 seconds faster than that quartet's No. 1 seed time).

Barnes fared well in the long jump, recording a fourth-place 14'2.5", and Brown took fourth in the discus with a 71'11" maximum. deKay cleared 7'2" in the pole vault and finished fifth, and Avila placed seventh in the high jump with her 4'6" best.

She added an eighth in the 100m hurdles (20.66), while deKay took eighth in the 800 (3:07.26) and freshman Samantha Riddell eighth in the 200 (31.44).

After competing next at the Bayfield Invitational No. 2 on Tuesday, April 18, Ignacio will take part in Durango's Ron Keller Invitational on Saturday, April 22, then travel to Cortez for the M-CHS Panther Invitational on the 28th.

M-CHS, the Lady 'Cats backed up the boss' claim almost immediately in the second half.

After being out-shot by an unofficial 16-1 margin (12-1 in shots-on-goal) before the break, IHS at last broke through when Reynolds gained possession near the scorer's table at mid-field, sped along the sideline all the way into striking range, and then put IHS' first second-half try past Montezuma-Cortez goalie Aubrey Rutherford in the 43rd minute.

Just two minutes later, however, the thrill was gone.

Rather than known play-makers Jordi Mahler, Sophia Shepard or Anna Jensen, M-CHS junior Janae Boyd led a rush deep into the offensive end and drew Strohl far off her line. Strohl managed to deflect the ball before it really became a shot, but the ball skittered away to her left and M-CHS senior Charlie McClellan booted it into an unguarded net for the locals' sixth goal.

Shepard had gotten the scoring started with goals in the sixth and tenth minutes. Mahler then marked in the 17th, 22nd (via a penalty kick awarded after a foul called against Lady 'Cat Jillian Middlebrook) and 27th minutes for a hat trick, with Shepard assisting on Mahler's first goal and Jensen her third.

And though no more of offensive highlights came for Ignacio (0-6 overall, 0-2 2A Intermountain-South), the Ignacio's Harmony Reynolds (15) receives congratulations from Laci Brunson (11) after scoring a first-half goal Tuesday, April 11, at Bayfield. Brunson would score during the second half, but the Lady Bobcats fell 4-2.

Lady Bobcats left on something of an upbeat note following Strohl's diving denial of a Lady Panther's likely 78th-minute goal.

Unofficially, she saved ten of M-CHS' 16 shots-on-goal; Rutherford stopped three of IHS' four. The Lady Panthers (4-3, 2-0 3A Southwestern) also gained seven corner kicks to the Lady Bobcats' three in the non-league clash.

Looking ahead, Ignacio will resume league play Friday, April 21, at Ridgway. Results from M-CHS' visit on the 20th, completing a 2023 trilogy, were unavailable at press time, as were those from IHS' 4/18 trip to Pagosa Springs (1-6, 0-3 3A SWL). The Lady Pirates had logged their first win – a 10-0 rout of 2A Lake County in Leadville – just five days before.

pie Quintana ended up 0-2 but logged three runs after reaching base via a walk, a hit-by-pitch and an error.

Returning to varsity action, junior Nate Hendren went 1-1 in three plate appearances, with two runs and as many RBI, while White Thunder finished 1-2 with two walks, three runs and two batted in. Junior Marcus Maez, however, may have had the best stat line of all; Ignacio's second baseman ended up 3-for-3 with a walk, two runs and an impressive five RBI.

"We practiced all week and, as you could tell, that practice is coming through. It's showing that what we're doing is working," Baker said. "The bottom half (of the batting order) is rolling it over to the top half – that's all I ask, for them to put the ball in play. And they're doing it."

Looking ahead to upcoming action, Ignacio will travel Friday, April 21, to 3A In-line of all; Ignacio's second baseman ended up 3-for-3 with a walk, two runs and

The Bobcats will then host 2A Trinidad for two on the 22nd, beginning at 11 a.m.

Results from IHS' scheduled April 18 single at Dove Creek, however, were unavailable at press time. The Bulldogs went into the game standing 1-2 in SJBL play and 6-6 overall after stringing together five straight blowout wins, including a 33-1 thrashing of 2A Western Slope member Grand Valley – the 4/18 destination for Nucla (4-5, 0-2 SJBL) – up in Parachute.

EXPRESS YOUR OPINIONS

THE VALUE OF LOCAL NEWS, TRIBAL MEDIA

Maykh, Piinu nuuchiu!
With a few days of warm weather, spring runoff has begun. Whether it is water being released from local dams or shallow ponds being formed in natural depression, weather and water interact to form interesting results. From farmer to rafter, it is important to know what spring runoff will bring to everyone. It is also important for everyone to be aware of their surroundings. One form of media that provides information about past activities, articles of interest, important notices, and upcoming events, is our Southern Ute Drum newspaper.

The Drum is divided into sections, so if someone has a particular interest, they can look under sub-headings of News, Culture, Health, Education, Sports, Voices, Notices, and Classified to find articles of interest. When looking at the paper or online version of the Drum, it is natural to focus on one or several subjects. But what about the contents of the Drum not read? After reading your favorite section and looking at photos of friends and relatives, read the articles you skipped over. This will provide you with a broad base of information about the Tribe and the community.

A suggestion to anyone contemplating running for Tribal Council is to practice reading articles outside of your interest in any publication, whether that is the Drum, People magazine, Indian Country Today, Cowboys and Indians magazine, Rolling Stone, etc. Read the masthead as well. Just as the masthead of a publication provides information about editor, staff, location and contact information, a Tribal Council packet provides information about department, subject, presenting staff and contact information. Tribal councilors are expected to read packets of departmental information before meetings.

By reading the Southern Ute Drum from the first to the last page, you become self-educated about your tribe and the community we live in. It's a form of self-education and good practice for reading Tribal Council packets.

THE IMPORTANCE OF HOLY WEEK

On April 1st, the Saturday before Palm Sunday, over 70 pilgrims met at 8am at St. Bartholomew Mission Church in Bayfield to kick-start their Holy Week celebrations with a half-day penitential walk to St. Ignatius of Loyola Parish Church in Ignacio, Colo. At the beginning of the walk, with the faithful gathered around the altar, Fr. Cesar Arras, CR, encouraged and reminded the people of the importance of Holy Week, the meaning of sacrifice, perseverance and holiness. After that, the priest blessed the two life-size crosses for the procession and in silence, all began their walk in the name of the Lord.

The procession was led by the Confirmation class who carried the 6-foot-tall crosses. The group walked together, often stopping for brief moments to listen and pray to the Stations of the Cross. Water, snacks and a portable toilet were available throughout the event. The day was sunny and mild as the pilgrims headed southwest on Rainbow Road and walked to St. Ignatius Parish, ten miles away. The participants ranged in age, from an infant in a stroller to senior citizens. A pilgrim couple even brought their two leashed dogs to walk along. As people walked, some chatted, and others prayed silently.

As pilgrims arrived to St. Ignatius Church, parishioners unable to do the walk due to age or physical impediments waited for pilgrims by the bell tower to hailed them as they arrived by ringing of the church bell to remind them that their pilgrimage had come to a conclusion and it was now the time to contemplate the Lord in his holy temple and thank him for all his goodness to towards us. For those still on the way, the sound coming out of the bell tower was like the encouraging voice of the Lord prompting them to keep going and not despair for he is near.

Our 2023 Penitential Walk was a true success. It offered the faithful of our three communities the opportunity to pray, meet new people and contemplate the beauty of God's Creation. The event concluded with the people's thanksgiving to God through the Eucharist. After the liturgical celebration we all enjoyed homemade chicken soup, bread and some time in fellowship at the parish hall.

NEWCOMERS

The Ute's first met white people during the 1500's. Explorers from Spain decided that they wanted the Ute's land. The Utes refused to give up their land. They drove the explorers away. Three hundred years later, the U.S. Government learned that there was copper on the Ute's land.

The government wanted the land for settlers who would mine the copper; soldiers soon arrived. After many battles the Utes were forced to give up their land and move onto reservations.

Many settlers traveled west in search of metal such as copper and gold. The U.S. Government was happy to have the Ute's land, but they were afraid that the Utes would attack the white settlers who had moved there. They learned that a young Ute man, Ouray, knew how to speak several languages including English. Ever since he has made his promise, Ouray had learned all about the U.S. Government laws and how they affected the Native Americans in North America.

Chief Ouray died in 1880 at the age of 47 and the U.S. Government took even more land at gun point. The Utes faced many of the same challenges as the Pueblo Indians. The Utes did not suffer the same fate as long as Chief Ouray was alive.

Notice of New Tribal Truancy Code & Request for Tribal Member Comments

At the direction of the Southern Ute Indian Tribal Council, the Tribe's Legal Department is seeking comments on the proposed new Truancy Code. A copy of the new Code can be found at this link on the Education Department website: Proposed Truancy Code. Please use the contact numbers at the end of this notice to obtain a hard copy of the proposed Truancy Code or to submit comments. This is a new Code developed by the Tribe's Truancy Team and representatives of various departments, including Education, Social Services, Justice & Regulatory, and Legal. The new Code will appear as Title 31 in the Southern Ute Law and Order Code.

Summary of the proposed Code:

1. The purpose of the Code is to ensure that all Tribal member children and those eligible for Tribal membership, as well as all Native children residing or attending school within the exterior boundaries of the reservation, have the benefit of a fulfilling educational experience.
2. The Truancy Code makes school attendance mandatory and ensures that children and families follow school attendance policies, or the progress requirements of on-line or home-schooling educational programs that do not have attendance policies.
3. The Code requires that parents, guardians, and custodians ensure their child's attendance at school (or progress in their on-line or home school educational program) and participate in any process that occurs if their child is not attaining school attendance (or on-line and home school progress) goals.

Truancy Team:

1. The Truancy Team is made up of representatives of the Education, Social Services, and Justice and Regulatory Programs, and may include others at the family's request such as school representatives, elders, or community representatives.
2. If a child is not meeting attendance or on-line/home school progress goals, the Truancy Team will meet with the family and develop an individualized plan to help support the child and family.
3. The individualized truancy plan may include assistance with tutoring, counseling, and access to services to eliminate or remediate the causes for the child's unexcused absences, or for student's enrolled in online/home school programs, insufficient progress.

Enforcement:

1. If a child or family fails to cooperate with or follow the Truancy Plan, the Code contains several enforcement options, including:
 - Law enforcement returning the child to school or home.
 - The Education Department or CRO filing a petition in Children's Court and requesting the Court issue an order requiring school attendance.
2. If a case is referred to the Children's Court, the Court may issue orders not only requiring school attendance, but also community service for both the parents, custodians, or guardians and the child, tutoring for the child, behavioral health or drug and alcohol assessments, counseling, curfew, removal of electronics from children's possession, or home detention. As a last resort, the Court may also impose financial penalties, issue contempt citations, or take other measures as described in Article 5 of the Truancy Code.

Public Comments:

The Tribal Council requests that all Tribal Members review the entire code and provide comments no later than May 17, 2023 to the Legal Department at:

- Email: dasmith@southernute-nsn.gov or lbarnhart@southernute-nsn.gov

Tribal Wills Clinic

May 22-26, 2023

Ute Mountain Ute Tribal Complex Building
125 Mike Walsh Road, Towaoc, CO

For an appointment call 505-716-6788 before May 20, 2023

The Tribal Wills Clinic is a group of volunteers including law students and licensed attorneys, who donate their time to help Tribal Members write wills.

Why Wills?

- Federal law includes provisions that say how Indian Trust Lands pass after a Tribal Member passes on.
- Over time, parcels may have been split into hundreds of small shares as Indian Trust Land passed from generation to generation. This process is called "fractionation."
- A federal law, A.I.P.R.A., is now attempting to decrease fractionation by providing that most Indian Trust Land will go only to the one oldest descendant – unless the owner writes a will.
- To make sure that your Trust Land, and other important items of property go to the people you want to have that property, you should write a will.

Celebrate a well-lived life by making sure that your wishes are carried out by the next generation. To make sure that your wishes are respected after you pass, please consider drafting a will, either through our program or with a local attorney.

What does it cost?

- Our services are entirely free.
- At a law firm in Denver, the cost for a will would be about $2,500 and the process would take about two weeks.

How long does the process take?

- About two hours on two different days.
- On the first day you will talk with a law student about what you would like to have included in your documents. You will have plenty of time to ask questions.
- That night the law student will write up all of the documents, and have them checked by a licensed attorney.
- On a second day, when the documents are ready, you will come back for the signing ceremony, which will take at least an hour, as the law student goes over everything to be sure that it is right.

Things to think about for a Will

- Names of Friends and Family who will be Included in the Will – To save time at the interview, write down the names of the friends and family you want to mention in the will. Include the birthdate, address, cellphone number, enrollment or census number for each person, if you know it.
- Special Gifts – What is important for specific family members to have?
- Personal Representative – Who should take charge to make sure your wishes are carried out after you pass on?
- Joint Tenants or Tenants in Common – If you want to give a piece of land to be owned by several people at the same time, you will need to decide whether you want them to own the property as Joint Tenants or as Tenants in Common.
- Joint Tenants means that the last person surviving will own all of the land. Tenants in Common means that as each person passes on, that person's share goes into his or her estate. The law student will explain more about this.

Local collaborative seeks participants for equitable land access study

Staff Report
LA PLATA OPEN SPACE CONSERVANCY

La Plata Open Space Conservancy (LPOSC), Montezuma Land Conservancy (MLC), and the Old Fort (of Fort Lewis College) have created a collaborative for a year-long study to better understand the needs and barriers to improve equitable land access in Southwest Colorado. Beginning in March of this year, representatives from the three organizations along with community member partners will host five meetings throughout La Plata and Montezuma Counties for dialogue between landowners and land seekers about improving access to land for new farmers and those from historically marginalized communities. The meetings will be facilitated by Sagebrush Ltd.

“According to the Agrarian Trust, 400 million acres of land in the United States is changing hands as thousands of farmers and ranchers retire, yet the next generation of farmers struggle to access land,” said Adrienne Dorsy, Executive Director of La Plata Open Space Conservancy. “Southwestern Colorado is no exception to this challenge, so our collaborative is dedicated to exploring different types of land access models and better understanding the role that land trusts can play in improving equitable access to land.”

Recognizing the need to explore ways in which to expand access to farmland for the next generation of farmers, and maintain agricultural conservation values, LPOSC and MLC began discussions with key stakeholders in the community, including The Old Fort and its Farmer Training Program, last fall.

Southwestern Colorado faces increased turnover of landowners of farmland, with many of the new owners unable or unwilling to continue sustainably farming land that is so critical to produce food and to fuel a vibrant economy in our largely rural communities. Our region has seen vastly increased development pressure on open lands in recent years.

Inequities in farmland access in Southwestern Colorado, as across the country, are a serious problem. According to the Agrarian Trust, “most farmland is owned by nonfarmers... [the] vast majority (80 percent) of farmworkers are people of color, yet people of color own just a tiny fraction of US farmland – less than 2 percent.”

The Farmer Training Program at Fort Lewis College has been part of the conversations, and program coordinator Elicia Whittlesey says that “addressing land access for beginning farmers is part of building an equitable and vital food system. Farming is challenging in this region, and yet it is a viable way to make a living when stable land access is within reach. As the Farmer Training Program, we’re encouraged by this collaborative effort and look forward to hearing from the community.”

The Collaborative seeks to better understand the barriers new farmers and other land seekers are facing to accessing land, building equity in land, and how land trusts can play a role in supporting enhanced access to land for agricultural purposes. Multiple initiatives may arise from this wide-ranging effort, building on existing work in our two counties and piloting new projects.

The community meetings are open to all members of the public and will be held on the following dates:

- Monday, April 24: 11:30 a.m. – 1:30 p.m. Southern Ute Museum, 503 Ouray Drive, Ignacio, CO.

To register to attend, please visit www.lposc.org or www.montezumaland.org.

Struttin’ his stuff

courtesy Rudley Weaver

A tom turkey was spotted Thursday, April 13, just east of the old casino grounds by Southern Ute elder Rudley Weaver. The tom was strutting his stuff while leading a flock of hens. A “tom” is a male turkey, usually larger and more colorful than the hens – toms have quite elaborate, brightly colored plumage – which they enjoy showing off.
