YOUTH IN MOTION

Youth-produced sacred tobacco film headed to Durango, Denver

THE SOUTHERN UTE DRUM

A short film about traditional uses of tobacco produced by a group of local kids is soon getting a wider audience.

"Keep It Sacred," a production of the Boys & Girls Club of the Southern Ute Indian Tribe's PeaceJam program, follows a group of youths as they ride their bicycles around Ignacio, learning from various residents about the differences between commercial tobacco and that used for ceremonial and other traditional purposes. Among those interviewed in the film are tribal elders Alden Naranjo, Elise Redd, and Eddie Box Jr. and wife Betty.

The 16 kids in the program participated in virtually every facet of production, from scripting and storyboarding to acting and filming, said coordinator Crystal Garnanez, a community resource officer with the Southern Ute Police Department.

"It was a good experience for them," she said, adding that their interest in filmmaking grew alongside their knowledge of various tobacco uses.

The film was screened for the local community at the Southern Ute Multi-purpose Facility on Friday, Jan. 25.

Jonas Nanaeto, who acted in the film, said he believes it's important to understand the proper uses of tobacco, including as an offering during ceremonies.

"It's not supposed to be used as like a drug ... as a dangerous thing," he said.

That's a message that resonated with the San Juan Basin Health Department's Lasso Tobacco Coalition, which supported the production and helped connect the club with professional videographer Carl Geers. It was also through the health department that the Durango Film Festival got wind of the film and expressed interest in including it in this year's lineup.

The final schedule was not available by press time, but "Keep It Sacred" will appear in the festival, which runs Feb. 27 through March 3.

Ocean Hunter, who helped with filming, said he's excited about the film's inclusion in the festival. Andrew Morgan, a club member and one of the film's principal actors, said he hopes showing it to a wider audience will promote learning about the dangers of commercial tobacco use.

"I thought it was just going to be in this area," he said. "It got bigger."

And bigger still: In May, the Denver American Indian Commission plans to screen "Keep It Sacred" as part of its monthly film series at the Su Teatro Cultural and Performing Arts Center in the state capital, Garnanez said.

Coincident with the club's production of the film was an effort to promote a smoke-free area around the SunUte Community Center. That project

TRIBAL COUNCIL

State of the tribe address

By Chairman
Jimmy R. Newton Jr.
SU TRIBAL COUNCIL

The Southern Ute Indian Tribe has a history that extends as far back as words can describe.

Over the generations, our people have endured many hardships and witnessed many successes, but the story of the Southern Ute Indian Tribe continues to be written. About a year ago, I was proud to be sworn in as the chairman and continue my work to make the next chapters of our tribe's history as successful as any already written.

Today I would like to talk about things we've worked on over the course of the last year and discuss my priorities, and those of the Southern Ute Indian Tribal Council, for the future. I am reporting on the state of the tribe because I believe it is important for the tribal membership to understand where we are so we can move forward together.

OVERVIEW

The state of the tribe is strong, and the future is full of promise for every tribal member. Although it was my first year in the chairman's office, the past year was full of hard work and important progress for the tribe.

For example, we have made good improvement on tribal member employment, fiscal savings and responsibility, and the foundation of the tribe's Health Department. I would now like to talk about each of these areas in more detail.

FINANCE

A few years ago, when the nation faced a recession, one question the Tribal Council had to address was "What are we doing to quit unnecessary spending within the organization?" For the current fiscal year, the Tribal Council held the Permanent Fund to a "no growth" philosophy. This philosophy helps ensure the tribe keeps within the spending allowed by the Financial Plan.

We intend to implement this plan for the FY 2014 budget as well. This has helped to create opportunity for the tribe to consider addressing other issues that are important to the membership, like tribal member employment, housing and health care.

The Permanent Fund expected a 6-percent return on investments this past year, and we almost tripled that investment number with a 17.4-percent rate of return. The Tribal Council's decision to diversify investments across many strategies produced these strong numbers, and I believe these changes will provide a better balance of risk and return, which will put the tribe in a better position as we head into the next few years.

In April of this past year, the Tribal Council changed the policies for Tribal Credit. Those changes increased the loans available to members and reduced the criteria for qualifying for a loan.

Since those changes were implemented, the Tribal Credit program has processed 900 loan applications and has provided loans to more than 600 different tribal members. We will continue to consider and review other modifications to expand the types of loans available to tribal members.

EMPLOYMENT

Every member of the Tribal Council, including me, knows the struggles that tribal members face when seeking employment. We have long heard that there are many challenges for job applicants.

On Sunday, Feb. 3 helicopter pilot Mark Shelton, owner and operator of Native Range Capture Services Inc., worked with crewmembers David Rivers and Donnie Wackerman to radio-collar a cow elk in the Washington Flats area of the Southern Ute Reservation. The animals are singled out, captured by net, collared, and released to rejoin their herds in the wild. The data collected helps in wildlife management decisions essential to the long-term welfare of the migratory species, on and off the reservation.

WILDLIFE MANAGEMENT

Tracking elk using today's technology

By Jeremy Wade Shockley
THE SOUTHERN UTE DRUM

Finishing a week of aerial game counts across the Southern Ute Indian Reservation on Sunday, Feb. 3, Southern Ute Wildlife Resource Management Division Biologist Aran Johnson led a team to fit radio collars to cow elk on tribal lands.

The transmitters, which are designed to automatically drop off after two years, require capturing and handling of the animals for fitting and deployment.

"We deployed 15 radio collars this year, which is a relatively small number, but will give a sample of the habits of these animals, potentially leading to more in-depth study in the future," Johnson said.

Set to fall off on Feb. 3, 2015, the collars will collect locations every two hours around the clock for the next two years. The data stored on board will be downloaded once collected from the field; location data can then be put into a Geographic Information System and illustrated on regional maps, showing migration routes across Southern Ute Reservation boundaries, high-traffic areas, and highway crossings. That information is used for a variety of purposes, including collaboration with the Colorado Department of Transportation on placement of traffic signs.

Aerial net gunning is proven to be a fast, safe and effective method of capturing large game, Johnson said.

NEWS IN BRIEF

TRIBAL COUNCIL LAUNCHES HEALTH CENTER SURVEY

The Southern Ute Indian Tribal Council is seeking tribal-member feedback on the future of the Southern Ute Health Center. The tribe mailed out a survey early in February with nine questions about what tribal members would like to see from their Health Center in the future, including whether the facility should be primarily a health clinic, a wellness center, or a hybrid of both. The survey is also available online at www.southernute-nsn.gov/contact/healthsurvey. For more information, or to obtain the password needed to submit the survey online, call the Tribal Planning Department at 970-563-4749 or email mgo-mez@southernute-nsn.gov.

AGRICULTURE LAND MANAGERS

The Water Quality Program for the Southern Ute Indian Tribe is now accepting applications for the 2013 Cost-share Program. The Cost-share Program is aimed at land managers living within the exterior boundaries of the Southern Ute Indian Reservation on the Animas, Florida and Pine watersheds who are interested in implementing Best Management Practices (BMPs) for more efficient irrigation and/or riparian protection/improvements. The majority of costs are covered by the tribe through conservation agreements in which BMPs such as surface gated pipe, underground pipe and inlet structures, or riparian fencing are implemented. Such BMPs limit return flows from irrigated land and restore/protect critical riparian zones, thus decreasing erosion and other pollutants into our local watersheds. Call project coordinator Pete Nylander at 970-563-0135 for more information.

FREE BISON MEAT AVAILABLE TO TRIBAL MEMBERS

The Southern Ute Indian Tribe's Division of Wildlife Resource Management maintains a small herd of bison for the Tribe's ceremonial, cultural and dietary needs. As a service to the tribal membership, the division makes available bison meat to enrolled Southern Ute tribal members free of charge. Tribal bison are grass-fed at low herd density and are free of artificial hormones and other synthetic chemicals. Bison meat is naturally low in cholesterol and an excellent, healthy alternative to beef. If you are an enrolled Southern Ute tribal member interested in obtaining bison meat for personal use, call the Division of Wildlife at 970-563-0130. Quantities and cuts of meat available may be limited.

SOUTHERN UTE TRIBAL FAIR THEME AND ARTWORK CONTEST

The Southern Ute Cultural Department would like to start the New Year off by getting everybody pumped up for the 93rd annual Southern Ute Tribal Fair, so what better way to start than with a contest! The Southern Ute Cultural Department would like to announce the Logo and Theme Contest for the 2013 Southern Ute Fair for all Ute members. ALL medias of art will be accepted until March 29 at 5 p.m. Artwork shall be no smaller than 8.5 inches by 11 inches. Selected artwork will be featured on ALL items involved with the 93rd annual Southern Ute Tribal Fair. Logo submissions must include a theme to coincide with all respective artwork. Submit to the Southern Ute Cultural Department at P.O. Box 737 #88 Ignacio, Colo., 81137 or call Tara Vigil at 970-563-0100 ext. 3624.

UTE LANGUAGE 103, WEDNESDAYS

The Cultural Preservation Department is continuing the Ute language classes. The classes will be held in the Southern Ute Museum, large classroom, Wednesdays from 5:30 – 7:30 p.m. The classes will be taught by Dr. Tom Givon and Alden Naranjo Jr.

ATTENTION PERFORMERS

The Cultural Preservation Department is looking to update and add on to the list for all Native powwow dancers, Ute Bear dancers, and Ute lamen and T dancers. Call Tara Vigil, special events coordinator, at 970-563-0100 ext. 3624 or 970-442-1185 or email tvigil@southern-ute.nsn.us. The department is also looking for interested Ute flute players, Ute storytellers, Ute artists, Ute speakers/presenters, Ute bead makers and seamstresses for teaching classes and performing at events.

THIS IS YOUR LANGUAGE

'i_{ch}a-'ara m_{ni} 'apaghapi 'ura-'ay

25. Existential clauses

By Tom Givón
UTE LANGUAGE PROGRAM

25.1 EXISTENTIAL CLAUSES

In many languages, existential expressions are not formed with the verb “be” (“there is a fly in my soup,” “there are many houses there”), but rather with the verb “have.” Ute is such a language. Existential clauses in Ute are thus the third type of possession expressions, where the verb -ga- “have” appears as -aa.gha-, and the object of possession – now the subject of being in location – is prefixed to the verb. Thus, contrast the three types:

(1) a. Inherent possession:

'uwas-'ura 'u-vvaa-tu kani-gya-pugay-'u s/he/S-be there-at-DIR house-have-REM-s/he
's/he had a house there' (long ago)

b. Incidental possession:

'uwas-'ura 'u-vvaa-tu 'ava'natu kani 'uni-aa.gha-pugay-'u s/he-be there-at-DIR many/O house/O POSS-have-REM-s/he
's/he owned many houses house there' (long ago)

c. Existential clause:

'u-vvaa-tu kani-aa.gha-pugay-agh
there-at-DIR house-have-REM-it
'there's a house over there' (long ago)

The second difference between the two possession clauses (1a, b) and the existential clause (1c) has to do with the status of the subject. In both (1a) and (1b) above, a human possessor is the subject of the clause, as can be seen from the (optional) use of the suffix pronoun -u “s/he.” In contrast, the pronoun on the existential clause (1c) could only be -agh “it.” In other words, the “possessor” of the object in (1c) is the location “there.” This may be seen from the fact that only the true possession expressions (1a, b) can have a plural subject:

(2) a. Inherent possession:

'umus-'ura 'u-vvaa-tu kani-gya-gha-pugay-amu they/S-be there-at-DIR house/O-have-PL-REM-they
'they had a house there' (long ago)

b. Incidental possession:

'uwas-'ura 'u-vvaa-tu 'ava'natu kani 'uni-aa.gha-qa-pugay-amu s/he-be there-at-DIR many/O house/O POSS-have-PL-REM-they
'they owned many houses house there' (long ago)

Of course, one may have a singular or plural pronoun referring to the possessed object of the existential clause, as in:

(3) a. Singular object of existential clause:

kani-naagh_a tuachi-aa.gha-y-'u house/O-in child/O-have-IMM-s/he
'In the house there is a child' (now)

b. Plural object of existential clause:

kani-naagh_a 'ava'ntu-mu tuachi-u-aa.gha-y-amu house/O-in many-AN/O child-PL-have-IMM-they
'In the house there are many children' (now)

This fact can be also seen from the plural marking on the verb in (2a,b) but not in (3b)

25.2. NEGATIVE EXISTENTIAL CLAUSES

Negative existential clauses are found, first, in some fixed expressions, using the negative-possessive verb -a- “lack,” “not have,” as in:

(4) a. 'ina-naagh_a ka-'ip_u-'a-tu
here-in NEG-WH/O-have/NEG-NOM
'there's nothing in here'

b. 'u-vvaa-tu ka-nuu-'wa-tu
there-at-DIR NEG-person-have/NEG-NOM
'there's nobody there'

Thus contrast the affirmative and negative existential clauses below:

(5) a. Affirmative:

'u-naagh_a 'ava'ntu paay-aa.gha-tu
there-in much/O water/O-have-NOM
'there's a lot of water in there'

b. Negative:

'u-naagh_a ka-paay-'a-tu
NEG-it NEG-water/O-have/NEG-NOM
'there's no water in there' (always)

c. Affirmative:

'u-vvaa-tu kani-aa.gha-tu
there-at-DIR house/O-have-NOM
'there's a house (or houses) there'

d. Negative:

'u-vvaa-tu ka-kani-'a-tu
there-at-DIR NEG-house/o-have/NEG-REM
'there is/are no house(s) there'

Toghoy-agh. 'wusa-gha.

KIDNEY CORNER

1 in 9 U.S. adults have chronic kidney disease

By Dr. Mark Saddler
DURANGO NEPHROLOGY ASSOCIATES

As discussed in some of our previous articles, the kidneys are responsible for filtering the blood to make urine, eliminating waste products from the body. Where do these waste products come from?

Some are derived from food. An example is potassium, an electrolyte present in many fruits and other foods. Diets high in potassium are generally healthy for people without kidney disease and are recommended to lower the risk of developing high blood pressure. However, if potassium accumulates in the body, for example due to excessive intake in patients with kidney disease, it can be very dangerous.

Healthy kidneys are extremely efficient at removing excess potassium, usually keeping the concentration in the blood very steady.

Protein, another important constituent of a healthy diet, is broken down to various nitrogen-containing products that can also be dangerous if allowed to accumulate in the blood. Breakdown products of proteins come from our diet or from turnover of the cells from our own bodies.

These nitrogen-containing chemicals are thought to be some of the main culprits causing patients with chronic kidney disease to feel sick. The kidneys also remove many drugs and poisons from our blood.

When they work correctly, the kidneys are astoundingly efficient in removing all of these harmful substances. They filter about 40 gallons of blood every day to achieve this feat. Not bad for a couple of organs each only the size of your fist!

Unfortunately, kidney disease is all too common: About 1 in 9 adults in the United States have chronic kidney disease, decreasing the effectiveness of this toxin-removing system.

The most common causes of kidney disease are diabetes and hypertension.

What happens when kidney function starts to decline? Initially, there are typically no symptoms. A decrease in kidney function down to as low as 30 percent might allow a person to continue feeling quite well.

Many people therefore develop quite severe degrees of kidney disease without realizing it. So it's worth having your kidney function checked if you have any risk factors for kidney disease. I recommend screening for kidney disease in any person with diabetes, high blood pressure, or a family history of kidney disease.

The screening typically involves a blood and urine test and measurement of blood pressure. Many other medical conditions raise the risk of kidney disease; your doctor can tell you if you should be screened.

More severe kidney disease can cause many symptoms including weakness, fatigue, nausea, wasting, shortness of breath and itching. In the final stages of kidney disease, dialysis or transplantation becomes necessary to preserve life.

Fortunately, if kidney disease is detected early, there are very effective treatments that can slow down the decline in kidney function. It can be difficult to keep taking medicine to prevent a disease that isn't causing any symptoms at the time, but the long-term results of improved kidney function are well worth it.

YOUR HEALTH

You can reduce your risk for heart disease

Staff report
SHINING MOUNTAIN
DIABETES PROGRAM

February is American Heart Month. If you have diabetes, you are at higher risk for having heart disease. You can improve the health of your heart. There are several risk factors for heart disease. Many can be prevented or controlled.

Here are ways you can reduce your risk for heart disease:

Talk to your health care provider about heart disease: Share your health history. Get your blood pressure and cholesterol checked.

Control your blood pressure and cholesterol: High blood pressure is one of the leading causes of heart disease. If your blood pressure or cholesterol is high, take steps to lower it. Take small steps to eat healthier foods. Get more exercise. Take your blood pressure and cholesterol medicines as prescribed.

Eat healthy: What you eat has a big impact on your heart health. When planning your meals and snacks, try to eat lots of fresh fruits and vegetables; check the labels on your food and choose those with the lowest sodium; limit foods with high amounts of saturated fat, trans fat and cholesterol; and cook at home more often. Limit sauces, mixes and "instant" products such as macaroni and cheese and hamburger dish mixes. Rinse canned foods, like canned meat, before using.

Get moving: Obesity can increase your risk for heart disease and stroke. Being physically active most days of the week will help keep you at a healthy weight, and will help lower high blood pressure and high cholesterol. Try to walk at least 30 minutes on most days of the week. For example, you could take a brisk, 10-minute walk three times a day, five days a week.

Use tobacco in traditional ways only: Smoking and chewing tobacco greatly increases your risk for heart disease. If you smoke or chew, get help to quit. If you don't smoke or chew, don't start. Try to avoid secondhand smoke.

Remember your ABCS: An easy way to remember how to reduce your risk for heart disease is to remember "ABCS" — appropriate aspirin therapy for those who need it, blood pressure control, cholesterol management, and smoking/chewing cessation. Talk to your health care provider about heart health ABCS. The heart health ABCS will help you avoid heart disease and live a longer, healthier life.

For more information on how to have a healthy heart, contact your health care provider.

actually began several years back under the club's SMART Moves program, and reached fruition Dec. 18, 2012, when the Southern Ute Indian Tribal Council passed a resolution establishing a 100-foot perimeter around the center's south entrance. Garnanez said a private screening of the film for the council helped get the resolution finalized.

Lakota Two Crow, who also had an acting role in the film, said it was an important victory in the fight to reduce the threat of secondhand smoke.

"You can also get someone else in danger if you're around them," he said of smokers. "They can get sick."

The kids apparently enjoyed the filmmaking process enough the first time around to want to do it again, said Marissa Rocha, the club's chief professional officer: They're currently in the planning phase of their next project, a feature-length documentary about young members of the three Ute tribes preparing for and competing at this summer's Tri-Ute Games.

Counting elk herds

Southern Ute Wildlife Resource Management Division Biologist Aran Johnson keeps a sharp eye on the landscape below for elk herds neighboring Lake Capote and Washington Flats.

Bringing the elk herd into the open, pilots carefully single out an animal to net and collar at close range, the entire procedure taking less than 10 minutes.

Using an ultra-light helicopter, wildlife teams are able to reach the rugged terrain of elk herds.

Removing the capture net, the elk are then hobbled and collared with professional efficiency, minimizing stress to the animal.

requires a pilot and crew in a helicopter to fly in close enough to a group of elk that they can shoot a net over an animal to immobilize it. Once on the ground with the animal, the crew proceeds to hobble, blindfold and collar it before releasing it to rejoin its herd. The whole procedure taking less than 10 minutes, minimizing stress to the animal.

Helicopter pilot Mark Shelton, owner and operator of Native Range Capture Services Inc., worked with crewmembers David Rivers, Donnie Wackerman, and Pamela Moriel to tag 15 elk in about half a day.

"This is a new project for us," Johnson said. "[It's] the first time since the early '90s that radio collars have been put out on elk on the east side."

The tribe has been continually monitoring mule deer on the east side of the reservation since 2004 with great success, he said.

"We have collected such valuable mule deer data that it was a natural progression to want to gain that same kind of knowledge about elk," Johnson said.

Division head Steve Whiteman said he expects to find some key differences between deer and elk behavior using the new technology.

"I'm very excited about this project because we'll gain a much better picture of elk movement and habitat use on the reservation," he said. "We have many years of data on mule deer patterns, but almost nothing on elk. We suspect elk behavior will be quite different from deer, and we'll soon have the data to confirm or refute that."

"The important difference between the 1990s and now is the technology of the radio collars," Johnson said. "Newer radio collars are GPS enabled, allowing biologists to collect hour-by-hour data, as opposed to physically collecting single locations each month from a fixed-wing airplane," as was necessary using earlier models.

"This year's capture targeted specific areas of the Southern Ute Reservation: those areas that traditionally host large winter concentrations of elk and an area that encompasses a tribal range unit," Johnson said. "Additionally, all these areas see focused harvest during the January cow hunt, which makes us want to know as much as possible about these herds."

Collars were distributed across Washington Flats, East Cat Creek, and Valle Seco on the eastern border of the reservation.

The type of information the tribe is going to gather from these collars will include migratory routes, timing of migration, habitat use, and seasonal range occupation times, as well as estimating survival rates of the animals, Johnson said.

"The info collected allows us to make the most accurate management recommendations possible to the Tribal Council and allows us to give the membership accurate, up-to-date information about the big game herds on the reservation," Johnson said. "The nature of wildlife management is that we are forced to make assumptions and extrapolate small amounts of information across larger scales. This type of project can cut out that type of guesswork. If a tribal member asks, 'Where do the deer and elk migrate each season?' or 'What impacts do highways have on our herds?' we can give them precise information. Radio collars really give us incredible insight into the lives of these animals."

Whiteman said such information will help the tribe make better land-management decisions across the board.

"This information on elk movement and habitat use will be very helpful to us as land managers," he said. "We'll have a better understanding of those areas that are important to elk, and be able to make more informed decisions about land use and development activities on tribal lands that might affect those areas."

It's critical that the tribe cultivate its own research data, Johnson said.

"These elk are a shared resource," he said. "While we work closely and effectively with neighboring agencies, it's important for the tribe to gather its own information on animals occupying tribal lands, and to be able to make important management decisions using scientifically based studies."

One question often asked by tribal members is whether animals with radio collars can be harvested. The answer, Johnson said, is yes.

"While we don't prefer that collared animals are taken, if it happens, we understand and consider it good data to us as well if an animal is harvested by a hunter," he said, adding that the collars should be returned to the tribe's Division of Wildlife as soon as possible.

Wildlife Biologist Aran Johnson and Wildlife Technician Danielle Austin take inventory of collars at sunrise in preparation for the team's deployment into the field.

Danielle Austin uses a handheld receiver to approximate locations of specific radio collars.

Once unfettered, elk are released to rejoin their herds in the wild.

EDUCATION UPDATE

ADULT OCCUPATIONAL TRAINING PROGRAM NOW TAKING SCHOLARSHIP APPLICATIONS

The Southern Ute Adult Occupational Training Program is now accepting applications on a first-come-first-served basis. There are 15 scholarships available at this time. The scholarships are for tribal members who are interested in attending a vocational training school (non-profit) or a junior college with a certificate program. In order for students to attend any school, it has to be an accredited and approved by the Council of Higher Education Accreditation. There is no deadline for the certificate program, since some vocational training schools are year round. If you are interested in applying for a scholarship, call Luana Herrera at 970-563-0237.

GED TEST DATES

The Department of Education would like to announce the GED test dates for the upcoming months: March 1st, April 5 and May 3rd. The test is held at the Southern Ute Education Building at 330 Burns Ave. Registration and payments are due by Tuesday before the test. Scholarships are available for Native Americans who live within 50 miles of the service area, spend 12 hours in class, score a 450 on practice tests and submit paperwork two weeks in advance. For more information, call Pine River Community Learning Center at 970-563-0681 or Donna Broad at 970-563-0237 or 970-749-1953. Computer based GED testing is available through Pearson Vue Testing. Register, pay and schedule at www.GEDcomputer.com. The test must be taken at The Southern Ute Education Center. Call (970) 759-1953 for details. The GED test will be changing January 2014. All previous test scores will expire and students will need to retake all 5 sections. It is important that students complete all 5 sections of their GED before the January 2014 date. Also, the Education Department has an online GED Academy classroom that is available for at home GED test preparation. Please call Donna Broad at 970-563-0237 ext. 2784 or 970-749-1953 for passwords. There is a minimum time requirement each week to be allowed to use this program.

FLY-FISHING

Fly-fishing should be mandatory for federally elected officials

By Don Oliver
SPECIAL TO THE DRUM

Two weeks ago, I followed my usual morning routine: I put the coffee on, let the dog out, turned on the news, and then got sick to my stomach. It was inauguration day.

I instantly turned it off and contemplated going back to bed. But the dog wanted back in and the coffee was ready — so I turned the TV back on and proceeded to watch my least favorite president and vice president take their oaths of office.

They were surrounded by members of a Congress that has done a good job of being indistinguishable from old furniture bolted to the floor and impossible to move. After the swearing in, I listened to President Obama do a great job of reading a speech his writers had penned for him. So far, I still hadn't spilled my coffee.

After the reading of the speech, it came to me: This wasn't just a day for the current administration. Nope, inauguration day is a day of celebration for every American. It proves that no matter how wrong I might think the current administration and members of Congress are (from both parties), there will be another election and peaceful hand-over. Wow, I felt better.

Now feeling better, and working on my second pot of coffee, I began to formulate a way to get the next group of federally elected officials to do a better than the current crop of do-nothin'-ers.

Needless to say, fly-fishing is the answer. For this to work, all officials will have to learn how to fly-fish. Since this will be for the health of the country, I envision Obama-care picking up the tab.

Once all officials have learned to fly-fish, time will have to be made for them to practice their new sport. This shouldn't be a problem, since Congress' idea of a work week is three days.

You're probably saying to yourself: So what if elected officials know how to fly-fish? Well, here's where they actually learn a little something from the voters of the United States: Instead of taking polls to find out what anyone with an iota of common sense knows, they will have to spend two of their four days off fly-fishing with one or two folks from their constituency.

Imagine an elected official coming to Durango and spending two days fly-fishing with a soldier who is part of the Warriors and Quiet Waters program. The official would be required to stand beside this young soldier and fly-fish with him or her for an eight-hour day. I'm sure the topic of how the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs hasn't got enough money or time to really help this person, who has been severely injured by an explosive in combat, will emerge.

Another good idea would be for an official to spend a day buddy-fishing with the owner of a small fly shop. I would like to hear the conversation as the official gets an understanding of how all the laws and regulations are putting this person, and his 10 employees, out of business.

I really get excited thinking about the president or vice president fly-fishing with an unemployed welder, talking about why the Keystone Pipeline was such a bad idea. It shouldn't be a day just for voters to bend the ears of their elected officials. We as fly-fishermen need also listen to our elected officials. I'm sure those folks have some ideas about how we, as voters, can do more than yell when talking to them.

I know this is all a fantasy. But it sure would be fun to see all federally elected officials, from the president to the representative of the least-populated district in the United States, stringing up the mandatory travel fly rod for a day of buddy-fishing.

At least in this country, where inauguration days are peaceful and fun, hope may spring eternal.

Tribe represents among geeks

Durango hosted its annual Snowdown parade on Friday, Feb. 1, lighting up Main Avenue and bringing residents out of their homes to celebrate in the frigid evening temperatures as is customary for the town. This year's theme, "Get Your Geek On," inspired some original ideas, seen throughout the week, culminating in the themed floats whose procession spanned the length of the town's main drag. Representing the Southern Ute Indian Tribe were KSUT Public Radio, the Southern Ute Royalty, and the tribe's Management Information Systems Department.

WHAT'S NEW FOR 2013-2014
New Fishing Access added to San Juan River: A new fishing access has been added to San Juan River and includes two fishable ponds and 0.8 miles of river. Located one mile east of CR 557 on CR 500.
Aquatic Nuisance Species Alert: Colorado's aquatic ecosystem and fisheries are threatened by several imported diseases, animals and plants, including Zebra and Quagga mussels, New Zealand mudsnails, whirling disease, viral hemorrhagic septicemia (VHS), and Eurasian watermilfoil. Don't let these ruin your fishing trip. Anglers are asked to help control the spread of these pests and prevent new species from entering the reservation.

SEASON DATES
Southern Ute Tribal streams are open to fishing year-round. Season fishing permits are valid from January 1 through December 31, each year.

STREAM FISHING PERMITS
Southern Ute Tribal Members: Enrolled Southern Ute Tribal members, both juveniles and adults, must have in their possession a Southern Ute Fishing Permit when fishing on the Southern Ute Reservation. No State fishing permit is required, and a Tribal permit allows a Tribal member to take game fish from all waters within the exterior Reservation boundary. See Stream Access for specific restrictions regarding access on Tribal assignments, allotments and private property. A Tribal member stream fishing permit is issued free of charge and is valid for the calendar year in which it is issued. A Tribal member must show proof of enrollment by presenting his or her Tribal census card.

Southern Ute Member – Senior Fishing Permit: Southern Ute Tribal members age 55 or over may receive a lifetime stream fishing permit through the Wildlife Division. A Tribal member Senior Fishing Permit is issued free of charge and is a lifetime permit. A Tribal member must show proof of enrollment and age by presenting his or her Tribal census card.

Non-Tribal Members
All non-Tribal members must obtain a Tribal stream fishing permit to fish on designated Tribal waters. A Colorado State fishing license is not required to fish on Tribal waters but is required to fish on private property and public waters (i.e. Navajo and Pastorious Reservoir) within the Reservation boundaries. See Stream Access for the list of designated waters and specific restrictions regarding access on Tribal assignments, allotments and private property.

Non-Tribal member Permits & Fees
Age	2-day	5-day	season
Juvenile (12 yrs. and under)	$10	$15	$30
Adult (13 yrs. and over)	$20	$25	$50
2-day access (13 years and over)	$5	n/a	n/a

Required for any non-fishing adult wishing to accompany a non-member fisherman on designated Tribal waters.
Permit Replacement
All non-Tribal fishermen needing to replace lost or damaged fishing permits can purchase duplicates at the Southern Ute Division of Wildlife Office. $5

STREAM ACCESS
For purposes of stream access for fishing, lands within the Southern Ute Indian Reservation are divided into two categories: (1) Tribal trust lands, and (2) allotted and private lands. The Tribe has adopted a policy that allows for open fishing access on Tribal trust lands. Provisions for fishing on these lands are similar for Southern Ute Tribal members and permitted non-members, but not identical. These provisions are further explained below. Allotted and private lands are private property, and permission to fish at these locations must always first be obtained from the landowner. It is the fisherman's responsibility to know where allotted and private lands occur.

Access For Permitted Non-Tribal Members: Fishing by permitted non-Tribal members is allowed on the Animas, Los Piños, Piedra and San Juan Rivers through designated access points (see Designated Waters and maps). Fishermen must use the access points identified on the maps to enter and exit stream corridors, which are located only on Tribal trust lands. Fishermen may move up or down the stream corridors without securing additional permission, but may not continue on to allotted or private lands unless authorized by the landowner. The stream corridor is bounded by a 5-foot distance from the edge of the water on both sides of the stream, provided, however, fishermen may depart from this corridor only to the extent necessary to avoid a barrier located within the corridor. Use of designated access points and stream corridors is allowed for fishing only.

Access For Southern Ute Tribal Members: Fishing by Southern Ute Tribal members is allowed along all waters on all Tribal trust lands on the Reservation. For fishing on unassigned Tribal lands, Tribal member fishermen are not restricted to access points and stream corridors. However, to fish on assigned Tribal lands, Tribal members must use the designated access points and stream corridors as described above for non-Tribal members. Tribal member fishermen are responsible for knowing where Tribal land assignments occur, and fishing is the only activity allowed while accessing Tribal land assignments. All fishermen are asked to respect Tribal land! Do not litter, cut fences, leave gates open, drive or park in undeveloped areas, or engage in any un-authorized, non-fishing activities. Always remain within the specified stream corridor unless there is an emergency, never trespass on private property and contact the appropriate authorities if you see violations being committed. Activities by non-Tribal members other than fishing are strictly prohibited and violators will be prosecuted. Fishing on Tribal land is a special privilege granted by the Southern Ute Indian Tribe. Following the rules and showing respect for the land will ensure that this privilege continues.

FISHING REGULATIONS
All regulations in this section, unless otherwise specified, apply to all fishermen on the Southern Ute Reservation. Also, regulations generally apply to all waters of the reservation, but some exceptions apply specifically for Lake Capote. These regulations are strictly enforced and violators will be subject to fines, seizure of equipment, and/or loss of fishing privileges, per Southern Ute Tribal law. Individuals witnessing a violation are strongly encouraged to report the violation to the Southern Ute Division of Wildlife at 970-563-0130 or Southern Ute law enforcement dispatch at 970-563-4401.

Bag and Possession Limits: The daily bag limit is the maximum number of game fish you can take in one day. The possession limit is the maximum number of game fish you can have in possession at any one time, including in your creel, ice chest, vehicle or home. Game fish caught and not immediately returned to the water are counted in the daily bag and possession limit. The following tables specify daily bag and possession limits for game fish found on the Southern Ute Reservation. See the Animas River Special Waters section for special bag and possession limits on a portion of the Animas River.

Daily Bag and Possession Limits for Streams and Tributaries
Game Fish	Juvenile (Under 13 yrs.)	Adult (13 yrs. & older)
Trout: rainbow, brown, cutthroat ¹	Tribal Members – 2 Non-Members – 2	Tribal Members – 4 Non-Members – 2
Kokanee salmon	5	10
All warm-water species ²	Unlimited

¹ Limits on trout may consist of one species or a mix of more than one species.
² The following fish species are unlimited for bag and possession within streams and tributaries: channel catfish, largemouth bass, smallmouth bass, northern pike, walleye, green sunfish, bluegill, bullhead, common carp, yellow perch, crappie and white sucker. If you are uncertain about a species of fish you have caught, it should be released unharmed where it was caught.

Daily Bag and Possession Limits for Navajo and Pastorious Reservoirs
Game Fish	(Tribal Member Anglers Only)
	Juvenile (Under 13 yrs.)	Adult (13 yrs. & older)
Trout: rainbow, brown, cutthroat ¹	2	4
Smallmouth bass	5	5
Kokanee salmon	5	10
Channel catfish	5	10
Largemouth bass	5	10
Bluegill	5	10
White crappie	10	20
Northern pike, Black bullhead, Yellow perch, Green sunfish	Unlimited

PROTECTED SPECIES
Roundtail chub, flannelmouth sucker and bluehead sucker are rare native fish of the Southern Ute Indian Reservation, and are protected from take. If caught while fishing, these species must be immediately returned to the water unharmed. It is unlawful to have these species in your possession.

Permitted Angling Methods: Game fish may be taken by hook and line only. For bait fishing, one line may be used with up to two single baited hooks attached. For lure fishing, one line may be used with one artificial lure attached. Artificial lures may have up to two hooks (single, double or treble) attached. For fly fishing, one line may be used with up to two flies attached.

Legal Hours of Take: With the exception of Lake Capote, fishing may occur 24 hours a day. Fishing hours for Lake Capote will be posted on site.

Salmon Snagging: Snagging, or using hooked devices to snag fish in parts of their bodies other than the mouth, is only allowed for Kokanee salmon on the Los Piños, Piedra and San Juan Rivers during the months of October, November and December. Standard salmon bag limits and gear restrictions for lure fishing apply to snagging. Southern Ute Tribal Members are further allowed to snag salmon in tributaries of the Los Piños River during the same period.

GENERAL RESTRICTIONS
Fishing Duration. All fishermen must discontinue fishing when the legal bag or possession limit is met.
Fishing Pole Attendance. Fishermen must attend their fishing pole (be within 50 feet) at all times.
Bait. Use of any live, dead or parts of fish or amphibians as bait is prohibited in all Reservation waters. Non-fish and amphibian baits such as worms, insects, crayfish, vegetable matter, artificial salmon eggs and Power Bait are permitted except where special regulations are in place.

Minnows. Unless authorized by the Southern Ute Division of Wildlife, it is unlawful to take, possess, transport or sell minnows on the Southern Ute Indian Reservation.

Chumming. Chumming, or placing in the water any type of fish attractant for the purpose of catching fish, is prohibited in all Tribal waters. Chumming does not include the use of bait, lures and flies as specified in the Permitted Angling Methods section.

Planting Fish. Unless authorized by the Southern Ute Division of Wildlife, it is unlawful to release or move into Tribal waters any fish from aquariums, fish ponds, bait buckets or any other external fish source.

Illegal Fishing Gear/Methods. Use of the following gear or methods to catch fish is prohibited on all Tribal waters: all net types (except for hand-held nets used to land hooked fish), trotlines, traps, explosives, poisons, guns or any other gear or method not specified in the Permitted Angling Methods section.

Private Property. It is unlawful to fish on private property without first obtaining permission from the property owner. Private property includes Tribal allotments, but not Tribal land assignments. Not all private property is posted, and it is the fisherman's responsibility to know when and where access permission is needed.

Boating. Recreational boaters (private and commercial) are allowed to float through Tribal portions of navigable rivers that traverse the Southern Ute Reservation, including the Animas River and San Juan River above Navajo Reservoir. However, unless specifically authorized by the Tribe, launching, loading and taking out boats is not allowed on any Tribal lands. The only exception to this rule is that fishermen who have a valid Tribal fishing permit and who are engaged in fishing may put-in or take-out small, portable craft on Tribal Anglers wanting to fish, before or after these hours, are required to self-permit and deposit fees at the self check-in station located on the front of the Bait Shop. Permits are only valid for the date of purchase.

Southern Ute Tribal Members: Southern Ute Tribal Members between the ages of 14 and 53 must purchase a fishing permit at a discounted rate. Tribal Elders (54+ yrs.) and Tribal youth (13 or younger) fish for free.

DERBY Permits: Lake Capote is stocked with tagged fish redeemable for cash prizes totaling $2000 in prize money. Participation in the DERBY requires a separate daily DERBY permit.

Southern Ute Stream Permits: SUIT stream permits are available for purchase at Lake Capote.

Lake Capote Fishing Regulations
• No fishing without a permit
• Fishing is permitted from sunrise to sunset
• One pole per angler
• No live bait (worms & night crawlers allowed)
• Bag Limits per angler:

Trout; rainbow & brown:
Adults: Three (3) trout TOTAL under sixteen inches (16"). Youth: Two (2) trout TOTAL under sixteen inches (16"). All trout over sixteen inches are catch and release only.

Largemouth bass – One (1), any size.
Channel catfish – One (1), any size.

Watercraft: Privately owned boats, float-tubes, kayaks, etc. may be launched and may only use electric motors. Watercraft MUST be inspected by a Lake employee for Zebra & Quagga mussels before launch into the lake.

For current information regarding the Lake Capote schedule, fees, events, and activities, please call the facility or visit the Division of Wildlife's website at www.southern-ute.nsn.us/wrmweb.

CATCH AND RELEASE
Catch and release is an important approach to fishing that many anglers voluntarily practice. Not all fish that you catch need to be kept. In fact, the more fish put back in the river, the more fishing time you'll have and the more fish will be available for others to enjoy. Most of the time, if a fish is caught, handled properly, and then released it will survive to be caught another day. Here are some important things to remember when practicing catch and release:

- Do not play any hooked fish to total exhaustion.
- Keep the fish in the water as much as possible while handling it.
- Gently remove the hook without squeezing the fish or touching its gills. (Barbless hooks make hook removal much easier.)
- If the hook is deeply swallowed, do not pull it out. Instead, cut the line as short as possible so the hook may dissolve inside the fish.
- Allow an exhausted fish to recover before releasing it. Gently hold the fish in moving water, facing it upstream until it swims away.

AQUATIC NUISANCE SPECIES
Colorado's aquatic ecosystem and fisheries are threatened by several imported diseases, animals and plants, including Zebra and Quagga mussels, New Zealand mudsnails, whirling disease, viral hemorrhagic septicemia (VHS) and Eurasian watermilfoil. Don't let these ruin your fishing trip. Anglers are asked to follow these guidelines to help control the spread of these pests and prevent new species from entering our Reservation:

1. Remove all plants, animals or mud, and thoroughly wash boats, trailers, waders and equipment that have come in contact with the water before leaving a lake or stream.
2. Drain water from boats, including live wells, bilge, ballast, storage areas or any other place on boats or equipment that might hold water.
3. Allow boats, engines, boots and gear to dry completely before moving to another body of water.
4. If draining and drying are not possible, wash boats, trailers and equipment carefully and completely with high-pressure hot water (140° F).
5. Don't move or transport fish between waters. This can spread diseases and nuisance species.
6. Don't dispose of fish entrails or other byproducts into any body of water.
7. For general disinfection, soak/treat equipment and waders for 15 minutes with a bleach solution (6 oz. household bleach per 5 gal. water), a solution of Sparquat 256 (4 oz. per 1 gal. water) or a solution of potassium chloride (1 tsp. per 2 gal. water).

AUTHORITY
These fishing regulations are approved by the Southern Ute Indian Tribal Council under authority as outlined in Title 13, Article 1, Section 13-1-106, Subsections (1) through (3); Article 2, Section 13-2-101 and 13-2-102, of the Southern Ute Indian Tribal Code revised and amended by Tribal Resolutions No's. 1989-34, 2001-69, and 2002-215. Adopted January 22, 2013.

SOUTHERN UTE FISHING VIOLATIONS
The following are Tribal fishing-related violations, and associated civil penalties, that would-be offenders should be aware of. In addition to civil penalties, offenders may be assessed penalty points that may lead to the revocation or suspension of hunting and fishing privileges on the Reservation.

Common Fishing-Related Violations and Civil Penalties
• Hunting, Fishing or trapping without required permit or tag (13-3-111) $150
• Using nets, trotlines or traps (13-3-128) $250
• Taking undersized fish (13-3-136) $50
• Guiding or outfitting offenses (13-3-105) $2,500
• Accessing a stream for fishing and fishing outside designated access and fishing easements (13-3-110) $150

IHS BOYS' BASKETBALL

Bobcats tear into February with Nucla, Ouray blowouts

By Joel Priest
SPECIAL TO THE DRUM

Given recent history, it would be tough to believe two Mustangs bookended the game's scoring — senior Seldon Riddle beginning the first quarter, classmate Matt Larson cashing a put-back at the final buzzer — when Nucla visited IHS Gymnasium on Friday, Feb. 1.

In between those fleeting highlights, however, was exactly what Ignacio fans came to see: Destruction, by 79-14 count, of a San Juan Basin League enemy, with all 12 Bobcats scoring.

In fact, the two most nervous young men in the house may have been not any wearing NHS blue, but rather Ignacio's Wyatt Hayes and Bo Ward, who would be presented at halftime as members of the school's Winter Royalty.

Hayes was announced as the freshman prince, and noticeably had more difficulty placing an honorary sash upon princess Chrystianne Valdez — daughter of head coach Chris Valdez — than launching a three-pointer (he'd made two in helping the Cats take a 20-2 lead after one quarter).

Selected from among Ignacio's juniors, Ward had to execute a similar, but possibly more daunting task: With professional junior-middlweight boxer Elco Garcia standing next to daughter Gabriela, failure was not an option.

Both were seen on the court in the second half, indicating success.

Junior center Justin Carver's buzzer-beating triple prior to the pageantry had put Ignacio ahead 40-4, and after three quarters — juniors Clayton Jefferson and Kelton Richmond combined for 13 points in the third frame — the scoreboards read 64-7.

Freshman forward Nick Herrera, eager to get his own legacy against Nucla underway, netted seven of his 11 points in the fourth quarter, while classmate Anthony Manzanera dropped in all six of his points during those last eight minutes to help the Cats seal the deal.

The scary part? Mustang wrangler Samuel Calvert's starters — Riddle (four points), Larson (four), Cody

Joel Priest/Special to the Drum

Ignacio's Adison Jones (33) takes aim over two Nucla Mustangs for a mid-range jumper during the Bobcats' 79-14 win on Friday, Feb. 1.

Jones (three), Shad Salazar (zero), Keenan Brune (zero) — played their last game in Ignacio, with only two sophomores and three freshmen currently on the roster to fill their shoes in 2013-14.

Richmond led the Cats with 14 points, and Jefferson was right behind with 12. Hayes finished with eight, while Carver and soph Adison Jones each scored seven while also dominating the paint. Ward finished with five, and Sam Corrado (four), Austin Haire (two), Sam Mestas (two) and Tucker Ward (one) rounded out the scoring.

NHS frosh Mason Riddle's three-pointer was his side's only other bucket.

IGNACIO AT OURAY, SATURDAY, FEB. 2

Clay Zimmerman's three was the only basket Ouray could manage during a dooming first quarter the following night when the Cats stormed the House of Troy. And though he and the other four Trojan starters all managed to score in the game, Ignacio's starting five of Hayes, Jefferson, Richmond, Jones and Carver combined for 26 in the opening eight minutes alone en route to an 82-33 blowout.

"We brought three seniors up who don't play any varsity, so that they could try to score," Valdez said. "And if we do win a flag [championship banner] — God be with us — then ... they get to be on that flag no matter what it says. Because they've earned that right. And their teammates worked hard for them; that's what makes me proud for this team."

Fifteen Cats suited up and 13 scored, led by 12 apiece from Carver and Herrera. Hayes and Jones each scored eight, Jefferson nine and Richmond 10, but as Valdez hinted, there was no holding back the loudest applause for the backups.

JV call-ups David Storey (two points), Andy Guire (four) and Isiah Valdez each scored in the fourth, in which Ignacio edged Ouray 16-15, to punctuate the win. Valdez drained two treys for his six points, after also burying multiple threes during the junior varsity's 80-24 win.

"This was probably our lightest weekend. But the fact of the matter is you've still got to play the games; the kids still got to come

IHS GIRLS' BASKETBALL

Lady Cats dump Nucla, Ouray

By Joel Priest
SPECIAL TO THE DRUM

If last-second votes were to decide the night's Winter Royalty senior queen, Jordan Cuthair likely would have swayed undecided voters with February's first last-minute heroics.

Putting the fans into a frenzy with one of her signature, baseline-parallel line-drive shots that fell in for three, Cuthair all but polished off a personal nine-point second half, Ignacio's 21-point fourth quarter, and visiting Nucla's morale with one snap of her wrist.

But in the Lady Bobcats' 68-37 San Juan Basin League victory, an additional significance was twofold. One, Cuthair's output helped Ignacio's developing reserve corps rack up a solid 29 points. And two, all 10 players canned at least one shot of one type or another.

Had an odd chest pain not sidelined energetic sophomore Sky Cotton (who'd led the bench brigade against NHS with 11 points) for lengthy stretches the following afternoon in Ouray, Ignacio could have claimed a rarer achievement: Having all players score in consecutive contests.

The parity of points proved to be a major plus against the Lady Trojans inside their House of Troy; OHS guard Jackie Saunders' red-hot, 12-point third quarter was keeping Ouray in the contest, but Ignacio still led 37-26 beginning the fourth.

"We got it done," said IHS head coach Justa Whitt, "but it got kind of sketchy out there."

As it so happened, the last Lady Cats to score were starters: guards Michelle Simmons and Cloe Seibel. But with Seibel striking twice from downtown, Simmons twice from closer in, and the pair 4-for-4 at the free-throw line, IHS regained a much-needed intimidation factor for the final eight minutes.

With Ridgway transfer Bailey Kerson adding extra height in the post — she snared 10 rebounds — for coach Shawn Carroll, one collected carom on the offensive end quickly resulted in a midrange Sarah Pankow jumper and pressed Whitt into a preemptive timeout with 7:18 remaining and IHS up by nine.

A restarted Mariah Vigil quickly responded, scoring eight of her team-high 13 points (she'd led against Nucla with 14), and Seibel netted four (to give her 12; she'd had six versus NHS) as the Lady Cats outscored OHS 15-9 the rest of the way for a 52-37 victory.

Cuthair, making up for lost time earlier this season due to injury, scored six off the bench against the Lady Trojans, and Simmons also finished with a half-dozen (she'd posted a 5-7-5 line — points, rebounds, steals — against the Lady Mustangs). Starting forward Valerie Armstrong totaled 17 points for the weekend's work and Gabriela Garcia had six, while reserves Roshae Weaver (six), Ellie Seibel (five) and Chrystianne Valdez (four) all chipped in to help IHS improve to 8-7 overall, 4-1 in the SJB�.

Saunders led all players in the Saturday, Feb. 2 game with 19 points, Kerson finished with five, and Pankow and post Olivia Lockhart each booked four as Ouray dropped to 2-11, 1-8. Stats for Nucla (5-8, 4-5 after a Feb. 2 home loss to Norwood) were not reported; the Lady Mustangs had trailed 36-20 at halftime.

Up next for Ignacio will be struggling Mancos tomorrow. Results from the Lady Bobcats' non-league trip to Bayfield (7-7, 1-3 3A Intermountain) on Tuesday, Feb. 5, were unavailable by press time

IHS WRESTLING

SPECIAL TO THE DRUM

After a move, the first night in a new home can feel weird.

Even when relocation oddly leaves one just up the road, as it did for the Ignacio High wrestlers Friday, Feb. 1. With mats and equipment hauled in from IHS for the following day's Butch Melton Invitational, the Cats themselves were pressed to quickly adjust to the SunUte Community Center's floor plan and surroundings before hosting neighbors Bayfield in non-league dual action.

And only 160-pounder Blaine Mickey truly looked comfortable in the temporary digs.

Coming off a loss to Cedaredge's Brian Leahy in the fifth-place match a weight up at the previous weekend's Screaming Eagle Invitational in Paonia, Mickey made quick work of Bayfield's James Young, pinning the senior in just 23 seconds and trimming the guests' scoreboard lead to just 11-6 (SCI fourth-placer Miguel "Mike" Perez lost 16-1 to BHS senior Joe Zink at 145 starting off, and Bayfield's Ian Hermanns then claimed a forfeit at 152) before neither team sent out a 170.

Head coach Bob Overturf and his squad knew there'd be 12 points lost via forfeits at 182 and 220, but there was hope to stay within earshot with 195-pounder Javan Webb and heavyweight Josh Gallegos. But Webb was surprised 7-3 by emotion-driven senior Dom Brittain, and despite a strong start, Gallegos was pinned in 1:33 by Class 3A State Tournament-minded senior Matt Eckstein.

Down 32-6, neither Ignacio nor Bayfield sent out a 106-pounder, but the Wolverines — already mathematically in the clear — did at 113 to swipe a free six when the Bobcats did not. Ignacio senior Taylor Smith then lost by pin at 120, and Kyle Bailey's shoulders also were stuck at 126 as Bayfield's core picked up momentum for the upcoming Melton.

Trever Sivvers lost by first-period technical fall at 132 and Iaasic Peña, held together by an apparatus supporting his right shoulder, battled Drake Rhodes for six hard minutes before succumbing 7-0 at 138 — making the final score Bayfield

SOUTHERN UTE ROYALTY

Little Miss Southern Ute

Hello, my name is Yllana-Chanelle Nancivuchi Howe. I am Little Miss Southern Ute 2012-13.

I would like to update all the tribal members on what I have been doing to represent as an ambassador for the Southern Ute Tribe.

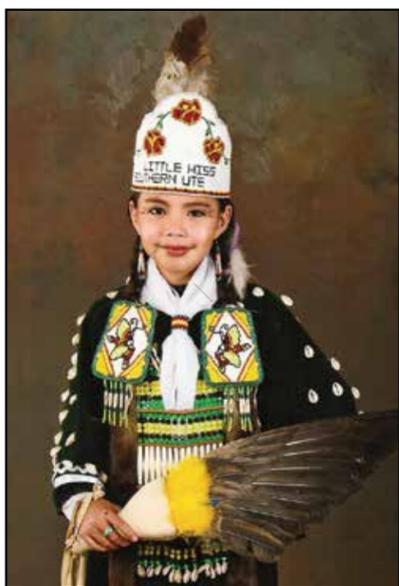

On Sept. 8, 2012, I was crowned Little Miss Southern Ute 2012-13 at the Southern Ute Tribal Fair. On Thursday, Sept. 27, I was part of the "hand-holding" along the Animas River Trail during Durango Connect, for which more than 9,000 people linked hands to commemorate a seven-mile stretch of paved trails.

From that event, I traveled to California to attend the Morongo Thunder and Lightning Powwow in Cabazon on Sept. 28-30.

In October 2012, I was one of the Bobcats of the Month at the Ignacio Elementary School. Students were honored for being helpful, having a good attitude in class, and showing a willingness to learn. On Sunday, Oct. 21, I helped escort Saint Kateri Tekakwitha in a procession from St. Ignatius Catholic Church through downtown Ignacio and back to the church. On Oct. 29, I participated with other Southern Ute Royalty members in the Southern Ute Police Department's Halloween Carnival at the SunUte Community Center.

On Friday, Nov. 2, youth bull riding finals came to Ignacio's Sky Ute Fairgrounds; I helped during the event's welcome with other Southern Ute Royalty members and elders. On Saturday, Nov. 3, I traveled to Meeker, Colo., to attend the blessing of the Capitals Christmas Tree, dance performances, and a parade.

On Saturday, Nov. 17, I greeted tribal members at the Southern Ute Indian Tribe's annual Thanksgiving Dinner at the Sky Ute Casino Resort. On Tuesday, Nov. 20, other dancers, royalty members and I demonstrated a variety of traditional dances and a round dance with students for Native American Heritage Month at the Ignacio Elementary, Intermediate and High schools.

On Nov. 24, I danced with my family and other cultural dancers at the Southern Ute Cultural Center & Museum during a Native food tasting.

On Dec. 7, 2012, I traveled to the first annual Hustle Your Bustle Powwow at the Denver Indian Center.

On Jan. 12, I met with Okesene Marino and his group, who were visiting from Samoa, and had lunch. They gave me a name, Tausala, which means "princess." They toured the museum and we took group pictures.

*Thank you,
Yllana Howe*

COMMUNITY GREETINGS

HAPPY BIRTHDAY NUFIE

February 12, 1998 we welcomed a beautiful baby boy into our lives. Where did the time go? 15 years, it's hard to believe!

I always knew these days would come but I didn't expect them to be here so soon. You have grown into a handsome young man and have succeeded in everything you do and will continue to do so.

We are very proud of you baby. Learn all you can and never quit, the sky's the limit you can be and do anything you want. (Want it all!) Happy Birthday my Nufie!

We love you more than you'll ever know!

*Mommy, daddy,
Choochie, Hammie, and Sister*

CONGRATS HUSKY

Congratulations to Christen Heart on her Husky Award for Curiosity!

*We love you,
Mama and Grandma*

TO JESSIE D. VIGIL

Grandson, I am wishing you a Happy 19th Birthday for February 9th. Time went by so fast and you are now an Adult by no means. Keep striving for the best that you can muster up, because you are doing such a great job! You have now come to realize what the real world is and what it entails. You have a long way to go and I know you will do the very best you can because you have that drive. May the Creator surround you with all his Love and Blessings. My advice to you is: "Always put the Creator FIRST & FOREMOST", because that is where your Blessings begin and ends, each day. Have a great time on your special day with family and friends.

*Love you always,
Grams, Darlene F.*

BELATED BIRTHDAY AH-PA-MA-PA!

You always help everyone, asking nothing in return. You're giving spirit and happy smile lifts us up every day. So, here's hoping and wishing and wanting 2013 to deliver only the best to you, since you deserve only the Best.

*With lots of love,
from The Family and Taffy Cat!*

BELATED HAPPY BIRTHDAY WISH

We would like to wish our Uncle Nate, a belated Birthday. How old are you now? We hope that you will enjoy more in the future. We love you.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY LEE

Happy Birthday to my wonderful Leoandro (Lee) wish you the and any more b-days to come. Also happy Valentines Day you're a wonderful father and hubby, we love you very much.

*Love always,
Alyssa, Leandra, and Dwight*

BELATED BIRTHDAY WISHES

For Shyanne Vigil on Jan. 28. Goobers, Happy Birthday you silly girl. I enjoyed having to share your special day with you, family and friends. It was a great day to celebrate your 12th birthday. I have pictures of you. May the Creator bless you with more silliness, laughter, and most of all Love and lots of Blessings. I love you.

*Love you always,
Grams, Darlene F.*

BELATED BIRTHDAY WISHES

For Mariah Rose Vigil on Nov. 25. Happy belated Birthday my Rosie girl. Sorry I missed your 18th Birthday, but I will make it up to you, and that is a promise. I have watched you grow up to be such a beautiful girl, so full of Love, Honesty and Laughter. I have enjoyed watching you play Volleyball and Basketball this year, your Senior year. Just know how much I enjoy watching you and just talking to you when we can have that little moment. Thank you for being YOU and being in my life. May the Creator always Bless you with all that you need and deserve. I love you very much. Take care my Rosie girl and keep up that pretty smile and Love you have within you. May the Creator take care of you each and every day.

*Love You Always,
Grams, Darlene F.*

"Ignacio's a great team with a very hard defense to beat," said lone OHS senior Jacob Fedel (10 points), "but we just had to pushing it to the basket and seeing what we could get."

"It gives us a lot of confidence going into our next games," Zimmerman said, "because they're a tough team, a big team. But we played with a lot of heart and we played hard, so it gives us confidence."

Improving to 11-3 overall,

The individual performance-gear Melton was more suited to the Bobcats' personnel situation anyways, but the highest any Cat finished was fourth — accomplished by Bailey (3-2 at 126), Peña (3-2 at 138), and Mickey (3-2 back up at 170) — against tough and, in some cases, very familiar resistance.

Santa Fe (N.M.; Class 3A) St. Michael's Horsemen rode out of town victorious after their dominating 260.5-point effort topped the 11-team field. 2A Dove Creek (189.5) was a distant second place, Bayfield (167.5) was a much closer third, and 4A Montezuma-Cortez followed next with 144.5.

Jumping into the postseason this week, Ignacio competed at the San Juan Basin League Championships in Dolores on Thursday, Feb. 7, but results were unavailable by press time. The Class 2A-Region 1 Championships will take place Feb. 15-16 at Grand Junction High School. Joining IHS there will be SJB� squads DHS, DC, Norwood and Nucla, along with Hayden, Meeker, Walden North Park, Paonia, Rangely, Oak Creek Soroco and Kremmling West Grand — with up to four wrestlers per weight advancing to State at the Pepsi Center in Denver.

Claims Must Be Filed By March 1, 2013 In $3.4 Billion Indian Trust Settlement

What is This About?

The Cobell v. Salazar Settlement is approved. The Settlement resolves a class action lawsuit that claims that the federal government violated its duties by mismanaging trust accounts and individual Indian trust lands. Payments to the Historical Accounting Class are underway. The process of considering claims for the Trust Administration Class is ongoing.

The final deadline if you need to file a claim form for the Trust Administration Class is March 1, 2013.

Am I Included?

The Trust Administration Class includes:

- Anyone alive on September 30, 2009, who:
 - Had an IIM account recorded in currently available electronic data in federal government systems anytime from approximately 1985 to September 30, 2009, or
 - Can demonstrate ownership in trust land or land in restricted status as of September 30, 2009.
- The estate (or heirs) of any deceased landowner or IIM account holder whose account was open or whose trust assets had been in probate according to the federal government's records as of September 30, 2009.

Do I Need to File a Claim Form?

You must file a claim form if you believe you are a member of the Trust Administration Class and you have not:

- Received IIM account statements at your current address anytime between January 1, 1985 and September 30, 2009 and continue to receive statements; or
- Received a payment as a member of the Historical Accounting Class. If you did, you will receive a second payment automatically as a member of the Trust Administration Class; or
- Filed a claim form already using your current address. If you have, the Claims Administrator will contact you.

You must fill out a claim form and mail it to Indian Trust Settlement, P.O. Box 9577, Dublin, OH 43017-4877, postmarked by March 1, 2013 in order to receive a payment.

How Much Money Can I Get?

Members of the Trust Administration Class will likely receive at least $800 or more. The actual amount will depend on the number of claims

Multi-purpose Facility celebrates 2nd anniversary, plans improvements

By Ace Stryker
THE SOUTHERN UTE DRUM

Two years on, the Southern Ute Multi-purpose Facility and Memorial Chapel is an established social center for tribal members and the venue of choice for everything from birthday parties and yard sales to cultural workshops and funerals.

Since opening in December 2010, the facility has welcomed nearly 22,000 visitors to more than 1,100 scheduled events. Feedback in user surveys is strongly positive. The decades-long dream of a high-quality, cost-free locale for tribal members to congregate is blossoming.

"We're consistently busy," said facility operations manager Barb Scott-Rarick. "You have so many people vying for the space. We get calls and we're booked."

To celebrate its third year in business, Scott-Rarick and staff are giving away one gift basket a month to users of the facility in 2013. The basket includes a variety of personal hygiene products, including lotion, body wash, shampoo and conditioner.

"We just want to say thank you to the community," she said.

Also new this year are a variety of improvements: The facility has already replaced its consumer-grade sewing machines with commercial Janome-brand machines and two sergers. It has begun posting its monthly event schedules on its website at www.southernute-nsn.gov/mpf-chapel. Users can also download agreement forms and request bookings online.

"We want to make this as user-friendly as possible," Scott-Rarick said. "We try to accommodate [users] with the best things that we can."

The staff has also begun working with the Grounds Maintenance Division on a beautification project in Ute Park, which will include new barbecue pits and trashcans and improvements to the monuments. The MPF staff, an arm of the SunUte Community Center, also oversees the park and Memorial Chapel.

Over the past two years, Scott-Rarick said the highlight of her job has been seeing families and the community as a whole come together for events.

"The cool thing is to see the people come together," she said. "It's a place for the community to be a community, to offer condolences, to bring food."

Looking forward, Scott-Rarick recommended that people hoping to use the facility book early. With traffic already picking up for events related to Bear Dance and other spring and summer occasions, people with last-minute requests are less likely to secure a spot on the schedule, she said.

The staff does try to accommodate requests on days that are already booked by helping users find space at SunUte as available, she said.

When the new administration took office, we said our focus was tribal employment, and we have kept that focus. Despite our "no growth" philosophy for this year's budget, our goal last year and our goal today is to train and place tribal members to hold a job within the organization and give them the tools to become successful employees.

In our effort to employ tribal members, we have promoted a number of employment programs already in existence within the organization. Those include the Tribal Member Apprentice Program, TERO Trainee, Temporary Employee Program, and of course the Career Development Program at the Sky Ute Casino Resort and many opportunities for employment at the Growth Fund.

These tools are working: At the end of December 2011, the Southern Ute Indian Tribe had a total of 229 tribal-member employees in all three entities. At the end of December 2012, we are employing 279 tribal member employees, a 22-percent increase, and that number continues to grow.

TRIBAL HOUSING

The Tribal Council has made it a priority to improve housing across the reservation for tribal members. The Tribal Housing Department recently completed Phase IV of the Home Repair Project, with a total of 28 homes serviced and completed.

This past year, in conjunction with the Finance Department, Cedar Point houses were made available for purchase to tribal-member homeowners or to tribal members on the waiting list. Some of these homes were rentals for numerous years; these houses were refurbished prior to the sale.

The Tribal Housing Department also received an Energy Efficient Conservation Block Grant, which assisted 52 tribal homeowners with energy-efficient doors and windows.

Moving on into the future, I am committed to helping the membership with housing needs; Phase V of the Home Repair Project has started and is currently in full swing, with 29 homes to be repaired. The Tribal Council is also currently discussing additional housing areas for tribal members.

With tribal-member housing off to a great start for 2013, as the chairman I am devoted to the health and wellbeing of the tribal membership.

HEALTH CARE

This year, the Southern Ute Health Center and the Tribal Health Department have undergone some significant changes. The Tribal Council recruited, screened and hired a new Tribal Health director, Mr. Kaylor Shemberger. Mr. Shemberger brings a wealth of knowledge to the tribal health field and I am confident that he will take us to the next level in health care across Indian country.

As an ongoing project, we have discussed the continuing evolution of health coverage for tribal members. Discussions have included a plan design and how the plan would integrate with existing coverage. The various plans reviewed could provide a significant cost savings to the tribe, and we will continue to evaluate these options to ensure the membership gets the very best.

In other areas, we hired a consultant to assess the Tribal Health Department's clinical and operational aspects, and the consultant's report identified measures that have already been implemented to improve both the operational and clinical side of the department.

One of these items assessed and completed was the hiring of a new business office manager, who is addressing many old claims for services rendered to the membership that were not paid for by the U.S. Indian Health Service. Also, recruitment of a chief medical officer has begun.

A Native American-owned architectural company and consulting firm was hired to assist in bringing focus and clarity to a future vision for the Health Department. We are seeking the vision of the tribal membership and Health Department leaders on how the Tribal Health Department should provide services in the future.

Your input will be instrumental in implementing the services and the vision that is needed to shape our health care system to be the best it can possibly be. These decisions will be very influential in helping the Tribal Council make these decisions regarding health services, both on and off of the reservation.

As the chairman, I am asking for the continued help of the membership to move this project.

In addition to working to improve our own Health Department, Health Center, and operations, we also continue to seek to hold the Indian Health Service accountable to support the health and welfare of the tribal membership.

Last year, the Tribe's long-running litigation against IHS went to the U.S. Supreme Court after IHS appealed the tribe's victory in a lower court. The Supreme Court decided not to hear the appeal, meaning the tribe's lower court victory now stands as final.

The Supreme Court's decision was a triumph for the tribe and for all of Indian Country, as IHS will no longer be able to demand that tribes waive their rights under the Indian Self-Determination Act in order to contract with the IHS.

In addition to the tribe's victory in its own case, last year the Supreme Court also decided Salazar v. Ramah Navajo Chapter. In that decision, the court found that IHS must pay the full amount of contract support costs listed in each tribe's Self-Determination Act contract.

As a result, many tribes, including Southern Ute, are now pursuing claims against IHS for these unpaid amounts. In the tribe's case, these claims amount approximately $1.8 million. As the tribe's claims against IHS show, the Tribal Council remains committed to holding all federal agencies to their trust responsibilities and, where necessary, will take to the courts to do so.

OTHER UPDATES

This past year, we have made the revitalization of our culture and language a priority. With the establishment of our Cultural Department, we are working toward establishing a strong culture and language program that we can be proud of, and that will instill our culture and language in our future generations.

We are seen as leaders in Indian Country and we need to remember that culture, tradition and language are a big part of what make us Ute people and are the reason that we are unique and different from any other tribe across the nation.

Currently, the Cultural Department conducts educational workshops like cooking, beading and sewing, and those programs will continue to expand.

The Tribal Council remains committed to helping tribal members achieve a quality education. This year, the council authorized a parent advisory board for the Southern Ute Indian Montessori Academy. We want to make sure parents have an opportunity to express their input regarding the academy.

In addition, the Tribal Council also established a board of directors for the tribe's Boys & Girls Club. The new board consists of tribal members and members of the community and is responsible for ensuring the Boys & Girls Club continues to help serve the needs of tribal members and local children.

Also, certain Tribal Council members regularly attend Ignacio School Board meetings, and the entire Tribal Council has also met with the school board to discuss educational issues and the Indian policies and procedures.

THE FUTURE

As the Southern Ute Indian Tribe continues to move forward into the next year and the future, we are striving to keep the organization moving forward with the ever-changing needs of technology. I believe the more in sync with technology we are, the more successful we'll be in communicating with each other.

Our website has many new things to offer to communicate effectively, including customer feedback, tribal department updates, and announcements. I urge all tribal members to visit our website, which will increase communication between the organization and the membership.

The Southern Ute Indian Tribal Council is here to serve the membership, and I firmly believe that with timely and comprehensive information we can overcome the perception that a communication gap has been affecting our progress.

In addition, the administration will continue to demand that all departments across the organization provide the best customer service. We are here to serve the membership, and we aim to ensure such service comes with a smile and a kind word.

CONCLUSION

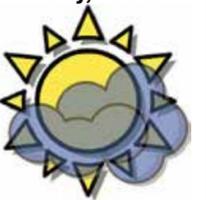

Let me leave you with these closing thoughts as I go into my second year as chairman of the Southern Ute Indian Tribe: I will continue to push forth the priorities set by Tribal Council in the best interest of the membership so we can continue to move forward together.

I will continue to focus on what is important to the membership, including health, communication and customer service. I believe that as the chairman, my job isn't just from 8 to 5, Monday through Friday. I have the best interest of the tribal members in my heart and in my actions all the time, every day.

I continue to encourage the membership to attend Tuesday meetings and to review our schedules, as I believe transparency and communication is key to success. I would like to wish us the best in our continued success this year.
