IHS GIRLS BASKETBALL

Trae Seibel to guide girls' varsity this winter

By Joel Priest SPECIAL TO THE DRUM

One can't call this coaching change a 'shakeup.' Recent confirmation of speculations that IHS Girls' Basketball assistant coach Trae Seibel would succeed his father, head coach Shane Seibel, under excellent circumstances seemed more a fulfillment of a likelihood.

"He trained me since I was a kid," Trae said on Monday afternoon. "Him being a State Champion in basketball for Ignacio and just really knowing how to do it." Training me to be a point guard, and when it came to coaching he's the one who said, 'Trae, I want to ... give you all my expertise, everything that I have learned. Now you run with it.'

Mr. Turtle: A new spin on an old story

By Ronald YellowBird

PART 2 OF 2

The two little birds that he tricked earlier were standing by the entrance to Cottonwood Circle, they were more concerned about Mr. Turtle's safety, despite their anger. A group of the little birds came to his rescue and began to dust him off by using their wings. A couple of feathers broke off in doing so and of course Mr. Turtle noticed. They were all about to enter Cottonwood Circle when they saw security standing there. "Okay, let's huddle and bird brain storm," "how are we going to get by Jesus the great blue heron," chattered all of the little birds. "Yeah, Mr. Turtle is a reptile after all," said one of the little birds. All the while the roar of the crows, the chattering of songbirds, and a spotlight in the center stage was where he belonged. I have to get in there and baffle them with scientific facts or dazzle them with my rendition of the Archie's gang. I know my favorite subjects are politics and the law. Members of the Northern Ute Veterans Association, Delbert Tavashutz, Jonas Grant, Benjie Murray and Leo Tapoof, present the American Flag to Raffel Kanip of the Uintah & Ouray Tribe during the last day of Bear Dance celebrations. The Ute Tribe raises the United States flag to honor a long-standing tradition, according to Tavashutz; historically the Utes were holding a peaceful gathering, similar in nature to the Bear Dance, and they chose to fly the flag above their ceremonial grounds. When members of the U.S. Calvary arrived they interpreted this as a friendly gesture and let the Ute people continue with their celebrations, ceremonies. To this day on the Uintah & Ouray Reservation, the flag is hoisted during the Bear Dance not so much as an act of a patriotism, but rather ... "to show that we are in good standing with the government," Tavashutz said.

The theater was dark and the spotlight was on Mr. Turtle. The volume pickup to the theme music of 2001: A Space Odyssey. The strangely feathered Mr. Turtle gathered his wits, cleared his throat and began by saying. "First of all let me congratulate your choice of entertainment, I wish to bestow upon you some cultural and highly amusing interpretation of the Rules and Policies of Ethical Procedures."

All the birds in the great council were bewildered and according to the program, a comedy routine was to occur. What is going on here, the comedian was terrible and some were falling asleep, with hecklers in the mix. Mr. Turtle knew he was losing the crowd. One by one, and two by two, the great council of birds began to fly off. Soon, flocks of birds ascended into the clouds.

"Well, better luck next time," said the same two little birds, "Where did they all fly off to" asked Mr. Turtle.

"Why, the great council of birds has reconvened in the clouds" "I must get there by all cost and peril, I require your assistance once again," said Mr. Turtle. "Well, we shouldn't help you, but after that performance, we think you deserve another chance," said the little birds. and happy flying!"

Before you could say buckle your seat belt, Mr. Turtle found himself in the clouds. As usual Mr. Turtle was analyzing his future and fantasizing about what if. The cuckoo brothers placed Mr. Turtle gently on the stage, they told him to let his eyes get adjusted. After a few moments Mr. Turtle was quite surprised at the spectacular amphitheater in the clouds. His voice would carry every syllable in his oral repertoire. He tested audio levels by his rendition of a super bubble favorite, "Sugar, Sugar." He was ready and he thought to himself, "I have finally reached the apex of my studies and will deliver a truly magnificent magical illusion." The curtains were about to be opened, the cuckoo brothers said, "knock 'em dead strange bird" "Hey, where are you guys going" said Mr. Turtle. "Papa didn't say a round trip" and with that they flew like a BB."

"That's just great, abandoned at the scene but the show must go on," Mr. Turtle told himself. A hush came over the audience as the curtain opened and it started with one clap, then a few, and then the whole place erupted. The great council of birds had never seen a new species of bird like this ever and this was significant. The spotlight was so intense and the slime with feathers began to slide off his shell. There stood Mr. Turtle in all his glory. He said to himself, "take a

"Hey June it's me, June look up" yelled Mr. Turtle, Mrs. Turtle was startled beyond imagination. She looked around, she didn't see her hubby, but could hear him. "June, I'm up here, in the clouds," yelled Mr. Turtle.

Goodness, has my dear sweet husband entered the spirit world, thought Mrs. Turtle. Mr. Turtle yelled, "I know what you're thinking, but June honey, I'm truly in the clouds." Mrs. Turtle thought to herself, "June honey, he must be in a pickle." She gazed upward and focused her glasses and sure enough she could see Mr. Turtle waving. "What in the world have you done this time, you come down here this instant," scolded Mrs. Turtle. "Don't be mad honey and can you gather all the pillows in the house?" Mrs. Turtle just shook her head as she went into the house to return with an arm full of dirty laundry. "Okay, can you pile them next to your garden," he yelled.

As Mrs. Turtle began to look upward, a blur dropped from the cloud. Mr. Turtle miss calculated the drop and landed on his back in Mrs. Turtle's lettuce patch. The lettuce patch was squashed and Mr. Turtle's shell was shattered and lay in pieces around him. Oh no, Mr. Turtle's backside was completely exposed and he was totally embarrassed. He forgot to change his underwear, as his mama would periodically remind him to do so, (you never know).

"Being the point guard of a State Runner-up team," he continued, alluding to his 2009-10 senior season and being part of a talented backcourt including Pedro Vigil and Oakley Hayes, "and really just being ingrained on how to lead ... Physically, emotionally, mentally," Siebel said. "I've always wanted to be a coach, and what better place to do it than with Ignacio Basketball?"

"I feel real confident in leaving," the Shane Siebel said Monday in a separate phone conversation. "Trae has also asked me if I could still be a part of it, be committed to...helping him and these girls. I think it's been four years now, and the girls have just gotten better and better as a program. So I'm really looking forward to next year, to see what these girls can accomplish."

Trae Seibel was quick to confirm that his inherited DNA isn't an abbreviation for 'Do Not Assist.'

"I'm planning on bringing him back - a 'dollar contract' - so he's going to be the main varsity assistant," he stated. "I still need his perspectives, and the philosophy he instilled within this program."

"It was a good conversation between he and I; he's professional, talented, and above all a champion. To have him there, as my dad next to me, helping me with this read-and-react offense, it's going to be awesome."

In Shane Seibel's four years at the helm, the Lady Bobcat varsity compiled a strong 58-32 overall record. And after three regional-tournament semifinal setbacks (against Paonia in 2014, Meeker in '15, Westcliffe Custer County in '16), IHS at last qualified – even with a much younger roster – for the 2017 Class 2A State Championships, when the ride into the 'Great Eight' consolation-round semis.

"You know, I told them at the end, 'The only team that can really beat you ladies is yourselves," Trae Seibel recalled. "Stay together, trust each other and put the time in, put the work in ... We're going to be competing for a top spot. As long as we stay humble and really worry about ourselves, we're going to make a good run."

Joel Priest/Special to the Drum

Seen during the 2013-14 season, his first as IHS Girls' Basketball varsity head coach, Shane Seibel has handed the program's reins to son, Trae Seibel for the 2017-18 slate.

"He's young, kind of rying on that foundation and ... it's exciting," said Shane Seibel. "The girls are really excited too - speaking of that, they're already getting summer ball going, and so I think he's going to do well."

In addition to having a loaded roster – led by senior guard Avionne Gomez and sophomore center/forward Morgan Herrera – this winter, minimal differences in the skippers' methods should help things proceed smoothly.

"The girls got to play the game, you know? They're the ones that have to put the ball in the hoop. And for a coach to get in the way, and to ultimately call every single play ... to us it's not good, fluid basketball," Trae Seibel said. "To take a step back in practices and allow ... mistakes ... To do that – let the girls play the game, give them tools, resources to be intelligent – that [former Bobcat and current really. And he's done such a great job; I honor everything he's done," Trae said.

"We believe in the motion-offense side of things, and defense ... wins championships. Learned that from Coach Chris Valdez and transferred it over to the girls, had some success with it," said Shane Seibel. "And he's really looking at ... car-been-there-done-that, and to just continue to build, add expertise, it's awesome.

Having cut his prep-level coaching teeth under Valdez with the younger Bobcat boys not long after his own graduation, then most recently having helped primarily with the Lady Bobcat C-team in addition to aiding Shane Seibel and JV leader Daniel Sanchez on the eager varsity staff - which also included former standouts A.J. Vigil and Maria Rivera – pride in being a local product could motivate Trae Seibel this winter more than anything else.

"Basketball IS Ignacio," he declared, stressing each syllable. "And for us to come back, give our time, it's awesome. I think Timmy [Velasquez, former Bobcat and current boys' JV boss] does a great job. I've hit up stopped against Simla in the came from him." overseas professional] Alex "That was his philosophy Herrera; he's ... been at the skills camps with us this early in the summer, really been helping us with our post play, dedicating some time and it's been awesome."

> "It's been a blessing, you know? Being in the program ... and just gaining so much experience from the top two coaches at Ignacio. And to now finally be a leader of the program ... it's a blessing."

Horoscopes by "The Star Lady"

□ GEMINI (May 21 – June 21)

BIRTHDAY GREETINGS TO YOU GEMI-NI! VENUS slips into TAURUS after the 6th and softly generates a a more gentle atmosphere. This might give you the perfect opportunity to accomplish some personal projects Gemini. But first and foremost this is your month to be true to yourself. MARS exits your sign on the 4th and floats into CANCER'S watery realm. Almost instantaneously your psychic sense takes over. Instinctively you know what to do, Where to go, and what to keep or not keep. Pay attention, write things down, and make lists.

Solution CANCER (June 22 – July 22)

Hey MOON KIDS ... you have come to the time of year when decisions and plans are made for your summer entertainment. Most likely family, and friends are a large part of those plans. MARS enters your sign on the 9th and propels you into action. Mark the 23rd as a launch date of sorts. Meanwhile just bide your time, and gather your thoughts until it's time to take action. You can call it, having patience. When you rush things mistakes are bound to happen. That is not the CANCER way.

∂ LEO (July 23 – Aug. 22)

Before summer gets to the sizzling stage, you might want to consider how you would like to spend your favorite time of year. It should be fairly easy. The SUN and MERCURY are in your house of hopes and wishes, and will be there until the 20th of this month. Don't procrastinate LEO, it's time for action. Do what needs to be done and you will be all set, and ready to move forward. The 1st. 3rd, and 9th, are favorable Lion days. Friends will be calling, wanting to visit. They enjoy your company.

W VIRGO (Aug. 23 – Sept. 23)

Leave it to you VIRGO ... your excellent work ethics may be show cased this month The SUN and MERCURY sit high in your Horoscope and shine like a beacon. It's your take charge attitude that always creates a successful winning strategy. VENUS enters your earthy trinity on the 6th as she glides into the sign of TAURUS. Her fun-loving nature tempts you with an ambitious desire to enhance your job, travel, or to step up your current lifestyle. Go for it, you won't be satisfied until you do.

△ LIBRA (Sept. 24 – Oct. 23)

Because you always like to know what you are doing from day to day, you are more inclined to plan ahead. In some cases, even years ahead. This June with the SUN shining in the area of future goals you'll probably be actively planning for some objective in the future. VENUS enters MERCURY on the 6th and influences your thinking. Seek out more harmonious methods to improve relations with those closest to your heart. Particularly if they live far away.

M SCORPIO (Oct. 24 – Nov. 22)

The month of JUNE means its time to review your financial methods and your spending. A FULL MOON in the money area on the 9th cancels out the old ways, and supports more resourceful practices. You know how to do this SCORPIO. Yours is the resource sign. Put that talent to good use. A NEW MOON on the 23rd in CANCER might have you thinking of a move. But like most all other people in your sign, you would much rather stay put and just reorganize instead.

The FULL MOON on the 9th takes place in your sign. That's OK Saggies, you can't shine any brighter than you do right now. Whether you have a project, or a specific plan in mind, friends or others are willing to join you. SATURN still has a commanding influence in your sign and will also help you to determine which cause you want to pursue. Pay attention to MARTIAN influence when it dives into CANCER'S watery realm on the 4th,, and tempts you to splash your money around in a reckless manner.

^γ_∞ CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 – Jan. 20)

It might be in your best interests to lend a helping hand to one who needs it. The SUN and MERCURY in the area of serving others may give you fresh perspective on how to do it. As an added benefit, positive progress can be made with health improvements as well. The SUN, and clever MERCURY promote creative ideas that might appeal to you. Give your imagination a chance to work. It comes directly from that store of inner knowledge that you have accumulated. It may surprise you CAPRICORN.

≈ AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 – Feb. 18)

A very talkative atmosphere develops this month. For starters MERCURY enters GEMI-NI on the 6th and helps to promote many happy times spent with children, and loved ones. Your best days include the 3rd, 13th, 18th, and 20th. JUPITER'S forward momentum on the on the 9th lifts some of the delayed momentum. You can also count on MARS to provide opportunities to enjoy some healthy activities to explore. Be creative with your selections AQUARIUS people.

ℋ PISCES (Feb. 19 – March 20)

Much of JUNE'S planetary focus centers around home base, and within personal relationships. The MOON in exact opposition to NEPTUNE (your sign ruler) on the 1st may strain close connections, and confuse your conversations. Pay close attention to what you say after the 16th, NEPTUNE rotates into its long and slow retrograde period. Make your important decisions based on facts, and not fiction. A little diligence goes a long way LITTLE FISH-ES. Home and family issues come first.

Υ ARIES (March 21 – April 20)

VENUS finishes its yearly trip through your sign on the 6th. You'll have a chance to set a 'Spring Fling into motion. There's more good news, VENUS will be entering a money zone, and may give you a more secure sense of security. It will remain there through month's end. The SUN in the busy sign of GEMINI till the 19th amplifies your daily routine, and fills your days with more interest. You know how you are ARIES people, try not to overdo it. Just maintain your usual rhythm of things.

∀ TAURUS (April 21 – May 20)

The urge to expand your income makes sense when VENUS returns to your sign on the 6th. Give her a warm welcome TAURUS, VENUS enjoys a harmonious, generous, and tranquil atmosphere. MARS also cooperates when it enters the family sign of CANCER on the 4th. You might enjoy a cooking class, or finding more clever ways to budget your money. JU-PITER comes out of its retrograde slumber on the 9th and begins to add a positive influence to your income, and job related interests.

FLY-FISHING

Spring has sprung, all the rivers will be fishable - maybe

SPECIAL TO THE DRUM

Spring is here, run-off will soon be over, and all the streams will be fishable, in your dreams. We still have a bike race that has a history of giving us one last snowstorm. That's on top of a record snow year. Let's hope for the best, but mentally prepare for one more snowstorm. So, what's a dedicated fly fisher to do? If you have a boat or float tube, go find a body of a 5,000 cfs release. water and fly fish. But what if one doesn't own something that floats on big bodies of water? Fear not, I have four suggestions for places to fish you have a great opportuduring the high runoff.

River. Even though the San mosa River provides great Juan is beginning to experience a man-made high and fast runoff, there is good fly-fishing to be had. The release from the dam will slowly reach 5,000 cubic I know. The gentle slope of feet per second (cfs) and will be sustained at that flow for to flow at a wadable cfs rate, a couple of weeks. That is and the cutthroat trout are too high, and way too dan- eager and hungry to eat dry gerous, to wade. However, flies. There are some deep when the river is brought up corner pockets in this stream, have a few hours to fly fish, to those levels it creates back channels that are fishable. As parallels the river, County Road 511, pull over and see Next, go north to two of my favorite early spring locations. Once the gate at Road 578 to Hermosa is opened, nity for early small stream The first is the San Juan fishing. The east fork of Herspring fly-fishing. The area that flows behind chairlifts 3, 5 and 8 at Purgatory provides some of the earliest and best small stream fly-fishing the valley allows the water so be careful.

Further north is Howardsyou drive along the road that ville. For those of you not familiar with this little ghost town area, it's just north of where the back channels and Silverton on Colorado 110. ponds are. Once you have I realize that most of you their location set in your think the only thing north of mind, it can be a fairly easy Silverton is the Animas Rivwalk to get to them. Don't be er and the mine that polluted discouraged; one of the big- the Animas. The area that gest rainbows I ever caught I like to fish up there is the was in a back channel during beaver ponds. I bet many of my fellow fly fishers are not aware of these ponds. There are a series of ponds linked to each other, located on the west side of 110. The ponds are easy to get to, and they provide hours of fun dry fly fishing. The fish are small but real quick. This is also an ideal spot to take someone just getting into fly-fishing.

If none of these areas tickle your fancy, try Williams Creek. Williams Creek is a tailwater that comes out of Williams Reservoir. The creek and reservoir are located north of Pagosa Springs. Unlike the tailwaters coming out of Vallecito and Lemon lakes, Williams Creek flows through lots of public land and gives you many locations to fish. I've fished Williams Creek several times and have always found it productive and worth the drive. Before you go, be sure to check to see how much water is being released from the reservoir. You'd hate to drive that far only to find record amounts of water flowing out of the dam.

If these locations sound like too much work, or you only Havilland Lake just north of town, east of Highway 550, and Pastorius east of town are fishable from the shore.

So don't despair, even with a projected high runoff, there are lots of options for fly-fishing. If you don't care for my suggestions, look at any map of the area and get creative on other spots to fish. Just let me know where they are. I won't tell anyone, I promise.
