Southern Ute Museum receives basket donation from Pendleton Woolen Mills

By Fabian Martinez
THE SOUTHERN UTE DRUM

The Southern Ute Museum acquired a donation of over 33 traditional baskets on Wednesday, Feb. 22 from Pendleton Woolen Mills, Inc., and the Bishop family, who has owned the company for over six generations. The donation was originally proposed back in August of last year and was accepted by the museum's Collections Committee soon after.

Since receiving the donation, Southern Ute Museum has begun the lengthy process of accessioning the items to be included within their existing permanent collection. One of the challenges in receiving this particular donation is trying to uncover the history behind the baskets.

"Normally, what we would do is we would have a lengthy intake process where we would do a lot of interviews and questions and try and get some answers," Southern Ute Museum Director, Susan Cimburek said. "That's always a challenging thing – to get this information [at first]. We will then start building the item's records."

According to Cimburek, what is currently known about the collection is that all of the baskets have been

SunUte Fitness Trainers, Elijah Lucero and Will Hacker took the lead on a series of hands-on educational programs for tribal youth focused on health education and basic nutrition. Students from the Southern Ute Indian Montessori Academy (SUIMA) attended in person workshops over the course of four days at SunUte Community Center from Monday, March 13 through Thursday, March 16.

"It's important to start a foundation early for healthy eating habits, especially when it comes to Native

At the direction of SunUte Fitness Director, Abel Valesquez, the trainers put together a list of materials and ingredients they would need to facilitate a multiday program at the community center. Their goal – to reinforce

GROWTH FUND

Western States and Tribal Nations convene in Washington, D.C.

Andrew Browning, President
WESTERN STATES AND
TRIBAL NATIONS

The Western States and Tribal Nations (WSTN) Capitol Hill Forum on LNG Exports from the Pacific Coast just concluded, capping a power-packed three days in the U.S. Capitol. The March 9 forum demonstrated our bipartisan credibility and ability to convene an impactful conversation with elected leaders, companies, and policymakers about employing LNG as a tool for lowering global emissions and creating rural and tribal economic growth.

Building on the momentum from WSTN's December forum in Grand Junction, Colo., our fly-in to the nation's capitol produced many new avenues of potential support and international collaboration that WSTN will be pursuing in the coming days, weeks, and months.

Over the two days prior to our forum, the WSTN delegation split into two groups to accommodate more than 25 meetings in congressional offices, during which we were able to educate staff and some members of Congress about our mission, vision and unique organizational structure.

The forum, like its Grand Junction predecessor, produced great food for thought, attracted media attention from influential outlets like Politico and LNG Intelligence – and a host of new action items to tackle. The Politico article nicely tied the WSTN D.C. Forum to ongoing LNG discussions and dialogue at CERWeek.

It is appropriate here to thank all of our participants, guests, and sponsors, and share some of the highlights:

- We are grateful to the Honorable Hirai Hirohide, Vice Minister of Japan's Ministry of Economy, Trade and Industry for his keynote address that previewed the case for LNG Japan will be making at the April meeting of the Group of Seven (G7) nations, which Japan hosts as this year's president. The Vice Minister shared what Japan views in U.S. and European-led global decarbonization plans, mainly the failure to prioritize energy security in a post-Ukraine world and the lack of realistic forecasting about what is achievable in certain timeframes.
- WSTN would also like to thank our bipartisan sponsors, Sen. John Barrasso of Wyoming and Sen. Ben Ray Lujan of New Mexico for gracing us with their remarks and demonstrating the spirit of cooperation across the aisle.
- Southern Ute Indian Tribal Chairman, Melvin J. Baker spoke passionately about tribal energy development principles on behalf of our sovereign tribal nation members, and Jicarilla Apache Nation President, Edward Velarde's attendance drew recognition and praise from Sen. Lujan. WSTN is especially grateful for the attendance of the Ouray and Uintah Ute Indian Tribe's presence at the forum, given they are a founding member of WSTN and guided development of our organization's mission.

Our other speakers included:

- U.S. State Department Energy Policy Advisor, Marcus Lee, who addressed aspects of the Biden Administration's policy positions.
- Tallgrass Energy Vice President, Steven Davidson shared his company's vision for a decarbonized energy future, and how that is playing out across the U.S. through its assets and investments.
- Wyoming Energy Authority Chairman, Paul Ulrich spelled out Wyoming's pro-energy policy and ability to deploy up to $3 billion in state bonding authority to support energy development, a salient prospect.
- WSTN Chairman, Jason Sandel closed the forum with impassioned remarks about why energy development matters to rural communities, demonstrating how life-changing it can be for families and putting food on their tables.

In the coming weeks, WSTN will have more to share as we follow up on the new opportunities this fruitful visit afforded us. As always, on behalf of WSTN, thank you for supporting, guiding and arming us with the expertise we need to keep growing and moving forward.

As I flew home to Denver from Washington, I felt a sense of promise for WSTN's future and that there is a coming global moment for LNG in line with our mission and vision. I look forward to seizing those opportunities together.

Students make jerky

Southern Ute Multi-Purpose Facility, Facilities Operations Manager, Elise Redd teaches the class how to fry their ground jerky to conclude the class. Students learned the cultural importance of making jerky and the hard work it takes to get the final product at the Multi-Purpose Facility on Wednesday, March 15.

The Ignacio High School's Native American Studies class attended a jerky making lesson. Using beef and bison meat, students marinate each piece of meat before setting them to dry in a dehydrator.

After marinating and setting the meat to dry, students then learn to grind pieces of pre-made jerky. Using stones, students practice a traditional way of making ground jerky which can be used for gravy, stew, and other dishes.

Students test their physical strength and use stones to grind pieces of jerky that will later be fried; each student and staff member took a turn grinding the pieces of jerky.

Fabian Martinez/SU Drum

Southern Ute Museum Collections Manager, Tallias Cantsee shows the faint design on one of many baskets donated by Pendleton Woolen Mills. This specific basket is believed to be from the Jicarilla-Apache Nation and holds similar characteristics to traditional Ute baskets.

sitting in storage for over 50 years as part of a personal private collection of the Bishop family. Many of the baskets are believed to be dating as far back as the mid to late 1800's – and the collection features baskets from other tribes across the United States. Out of the collection, six are believed to be traditional Ute baskets which feature techniques, colors, and artwork seen historically within the Ute bands.

“They are very similar to some examples in the Smithsonian that come from the John Wesley Powell’s Expedition,” explained Museum Collections Manager, Tallias Cantsee. The Powell Geographic Expedition occurred over the course of 98 days in 1868, starting in Wyoming and ending near the current Nevada and Arizona border.

After receiving the donation from Pendleton in a series of tightly compacted boxes, members of the Southern Ute Museum Collections staff began the delicate series of tasks relating to minor conservation of the collection. First, documenting the condition of the item, giving an accession number for the digital catalogue, including any photos and research for the catalogue, vacuuming the item for contaminants, and pest control management. From here, extra steps can be taken to conserve the items, including more specialized jobs like restoration. Finally, the items will be placed in the archival room or vault, where space is set aside, and their location is documented in the database. “It’s important that these [baskets] are here so we can provide top notch, conservation care,” Cantsee said. “Here we are able to provide a quality of care that can provide longevity [to the collection]. This is stuff that should be cared for by tribal peoples.” Cantsee explained that many of the baskets are in acceptable condition, but most have not been properly taken care of in a way that a museum or someone knowledgeable in handling artifacts could provide.

“We know here at the Southern Ute Museum that we can give the baskets the best possible care and to have them live the longest life they can – but also giving access,” Museum Collections Assistant, Sheree Mann said.

Access is an important step in the museum procedure and allows for collections to be seen in the public, which allows for education and research to be done with items acquired by the museum. “I think one of the ultimate goals as a museum [which has] a public mission, is an obligation to serve the public in some way. The main thing we that do is that we keep these historical artifacts, and we make them accessible to people,” Cimberek explained. “We don’t keep stuff just to keep it. It’s here so people can learn from it and appreciate it. That’s a big part of our mission.”

Access can be done in a variety of ways by doing a “full interpretation” within a permanent or temporary gallery, hosting education programs, allowing researchers to come in and work with the collection, or even putting them online in a digital exhibit for public viewing.

“The end goal here is to add to our current basket collection which is also a multicultural collection in the hopes of creating a basket exhibit that is a headliner,” Cantsee said. The Southern Ute Museum currently has a collection of around 230 baskets with 78 percent of the baskets being specifically Ute made. Most of the collection is a part of the White Mesa Collection, which was featured when the museum’s new facility opened in 2011.

With the newly acquired donation, the museum hopes to do an exhibit featuring the pieces from this collection as early as next year, which could potentially allow for collaboration with Pendleton or other agencies in the area.

“It’s possible in next year’s temporary exhibit we might highlight this collection,” Cimberek said. “Because it is such an interesting collection, it could be fun to collaborate with some other cultural institutions in the area.”

The accession of the baskets also showcases an importance to museum staff as to why the baskets and their techniques must be preserved for future generations.

“To me, it is really crucial to have examples of traditional Ute basketry as there are only so many basket makers left,” Cantsee said. “It’s still the same design as it was back in the late 1800’s. That really shows the continuum of tradition.”

The Elder's Meditation

By Precious Collins
NATIVE CONNECTIONS PROGRAM

Wise words from an elder for your recovery journey. "By listening to the inner self and following one's instincts and intuitions, a person may be guided to safety," "Dr. A.C. Ross (Ehanamani), LAKOTA (Ross, 2021). Depending on where you are in your journey in life, whether you're in recovery or not, or maybe you're struggling with mental health issues or what we call "life," we can take this quote in many ways. So, let's break it down.

What is our inner self?

According to many sources, the inner self can be described as our mind, heart, soul, and spirit. In many Native American belief systems, this could be seen as part of the medicine wheel and our emotional and spiritual needs.

What are instincts and intuitions?

Ironically, instincts and intuitions are separate things. According to many sources, such as the article Difference Between Instinct and Intuition, intuition is the "ability to understand or know something without conscious reasoning," and instinct is defined as "an inborn tendency, a natural ability." (Admin, 2015) We all have instincts and intuitions; sometimes, we don't even know we're listening or following their guidance throughout our day or maybe in a particular situation. Have you ever entered a room or area that didn't feel right? That could be an example of either your instincts or intuitions. Because we have been wired for survival, our instincts tell us if something is safe or not, whether we need to fight, freeze, or flee.

What is safety?

Safety is defined as being protected, or in a space or environment where we will not be harmed. Close your eyes and ask yourself, where do I feel safe? What am I doing that makes me feel safe? Is there anyone around me, and do they make me feel safe? Think about your safety in different scenarios and environments, such as at home, school, work, community, or traveling. You'll find that when you start looking at what helps you feel safe, you might also identify some instincts, intuitions, and your "inner self" guiding your thoughts.

So, now that we have broken down some of the elements of the elder, Dr. A.C. Ross's quote, it is clear that our ability to find safety can be hindered if we are using substances or experiencing a mental health challenge.

If you want to learn more about your instincts or intuitions, or maybe they're telling you to seek help and support, don't hesitate to contact the Southern Ute Behavioral Health Division. And if you need to speak to someone immediately due to a mental health or substance use crisis, please dial 9-8-8. Remember, we have instincts and intuitions for a reason; they are messengers and will help guide you to safety. If you need to talk to someone, please reach out.

It's okay not to feel okay.

If you or someone you know has been struggling with their emotions, behaviors, or substance use please reach out to us. We can help you find appropriate tools and services that could help you overcome obstacles in your life. We are here for you. Please contact the Southern Ute Behavioral Health Division or the Native Connections Program at 970-563-5700 for more information or to set up an appointment to see a counselor or therapist.

WHY YOU SHOULD APPLY

Enrolling in Alternate Resources

Why You Should Apply

- Generates revenue to the Southern Ute Health Center, which allows us to:
 - Buy new equipment
 - Expand services
 - Hire more staff
- Saves the Southern Ute Indian Tribe money
 - The Tribe would not have to pay for services out of the Tribal Health Benefit Plan for Tribal Members
- The Southern Ute Health Center is required by law to exhaust all applicable alternate resources
- Could result in a denial from the Purchase/Referred Care (PRC) Program if you do not apply
 - You may then be responsible to pay the bill
- Access to non-emergency transportation
- Allow us to expand our Purchase Referred Care Priority (Currently at Priority Level 1)

The Tribal Health Department has made enrolling our patients in alternate resources (Medicaid, Medicare, VA, etc.) a priority.

If you are contacted by a Southern Ute Health Center Benefits Coordinator, we respectfully ask you to take their call and listen to what they have to say. Their job is to help you enroll in an alternate resource.

Does it Cost Money?

There is no cost to you to apply. The process takes about an hour to an hour and a half. One of the Southern Ute Health Center Benefits Coordinators will help walk you through the process.

“Good Brain, Strong Heart”

Prevalent pimples

By Sandra Beirne, MD
SOUTHERN UTE HEALTH CENTER

Can you guess the most common skin condition in the U.S.? The title was a clue: it's acne. Almost everyone will have at least some acne between the ages of 12 and 24 years old, while some people have it far into adulthood. Acne can be very mild or very severe. It can be on the face, the chest, or the back – anywhere there are oil-producing glands. Typically, acne does not occur until puberty because that is when the glands really start to make oil. The cause of acne is a combination of more oil, skin cells that plug up pore openings, and bacteria that flourish in the plugged pores. These causes can be inherited and are the reason acne often runs in families.

While it can feel to a teenager like they are the only person with acne, hopefully it helps to know how very common it is. Also, it almost always gets better with age. But for those that want to treat it, there are lots of options. But first, there are basic tenets of acne prevention and care. The first basic of acne care is that it takes consistency and time to treat. This means the treatments need to be used every day for two-three months to know if they are working. That is hard for many teenagers, but if they can stick with it, their persistence can pay off in clearer skin.

The second basic tenet is that some people with acne are tempted to try to scrub

it off, thinking of it like dirt. But acne is about inflammation, and harsh treatment of the skin, either through aggressive cleansers or topical treatments, can sometimes make acne worse. I encourage patients to treat their skin gently to prevent any additional inflammation. This means using a gentle acne wash no more than twice daily, applying gently with clean hands, rinsing with warm water, and gently towel-drying off.

The third basic rule of acne care is the importance of moisturizers and sun protection. Treatments can be drying, and dryness can encourage more oil production. Keeping the skin well moisturized is essential to keeping it healthy. Some acne treatments can also make the skin more sensitive to the sun, so a daily sunscreen that is at least SPF 30 is critical to preventing sunburns and future skin injury. Moisturizers and sunscreen placed on the face should say “non-comedogenic,” meaning they don't clog pores.

When it comes to treatment, there are many different options, the first usually being benzoyl peroxide, which is available to buy in stores without a prescription. I encourage starting with the 2.5% strength because it can be less drying, and starting slowly, perhaps applying every third day to start. While it may be tempting to think more is better and slather on benzoyl peroxide and any other topical acne medication, the opposite is true. About a pea-sized amount distributed throughout the face is enough to treat the acne without worsening the drying side effects. In addition to benzoyl peroxide, providers may also prescribe topical retinoids, topical antibiotics, oral retinoids, oral contraceptive pills, spironolactone, or other medications. The choice depends on the individual patient and their type of acne.

For more information about acne, check out: healthychildren.org and search for “acne.”

You can make an appointment for your child to be seen at the Southern Ute Health Clinic to talk about acne or anything else by calling 970-563-4581.

the nutritional education that was already being offered at SUIMA through Lisa Smith with Shining Mountain Health and Wellness.

“I saw that the kids already knew quite a bit about what is healthy; they already knew that they should be making healthy choices, drinking water, eating healthy snacks,” Hacker said. “They already knew a lot, but our class helped reinforce that.”

The four modules covered the topics of hydration, sugar, healthy snacks and the dangers of fast food. Classes were split into groups of kindergarten students, plus lower and upper elementary – with SunUte hosting three classes per day. “It was very interactive, and the kids really enjoyed it,” Lucero said.

“The sugar one was probably the best one for them, it was hands on,” Lucero said. “We showed them the difference between a Pepsi, a Monster energy drink, Gatorade, and a Snickers candy bar. We showed them how much sugar they should be consuming and compared that to how much the drinks had in them.”

“They could really see [firsthand] how much sugar was in each item,” Hacker emphasized. “SUIMA guides participated as well, to help reinforce the lessons.”

“Hydration ... I gave them facts on when they should drink water and why they should and ways to make water taste better, and we made our own infused water with cucumbers, lemon and mint,” Lucero said. “Some of them liked it and some of them didn't. [The idea was to emphasize] choosing flavored water over sugary beverages.”

The multiday program breakdown dived into: Hydration: the importance of staying hydrated, healthy drink options (fruit and mint infused water); Sugar: negative effects of sugar, health alternatives to sugar, and a sugar measuring activity. Healthy Snacks: importance of healthy ingredients, including fruits and vegetables; Fast food and fat content.

“We collaborated with Gabs Garcia, the SUIMA Physical Education teacher,” Lucero said. “We had all the kids come in during their PE time as well, for a basic physical assessment, with hopes to follow up at the end of the school year.”

The program isn't new to SunUte, but this is the first health & nutrition series that the community center has sponsored in several years. “It reinforces what Lisa Smith is teaching,” SunUte Director Robin Duffy-Wirth said. Empowering youth to make the best choices possible in their everyday lives – where diet and nutrition play a key role.

A brief reference for vowels in Ute

Staff and students participated in making a body and naming as many body parts as they could! While the staff version may have more words, the students’ work was more creative!

By Mari Jo Owens, Principal
SOUTHERN UTE INDIAN
MONTESSORI ACADEMY

You may notice I have a few Southern Ute words written throughout the articles I submit to the Drum. Recently, it was pointed out that it would be helpful to have the letter sounds provided for reference.

Using the approved Ute Dictionary, I have provided a brief reference for the vowels that are encountered in the Southern Ute language. I hope you find it useful.

‘ - as in taa’ - sounds like the air space between uh’oh
_ - ‘ivett - underline - means these vowels are devoiced.
a - as in taa’ - sounds like a in father - means shirt, clothes e - as in ‘ivett - sounds like e in met - means ‘on here’ i - as in ‘ivett - sounds like i in Wii - means ‘on here’
o - as in ‘aghochi - sounds like o in note - means ‘dish’ ø - as in ‘æqarø - sounds like er in her - means yellow u - as in ‘uwarø - sounds like o in who - means ‘rain’ tt - as in ttø - sounds like oo while frowning - means ‘yes’

Montessori Tidbits

What exactly is Montessori? The Montessori method is a type of teaching curriculum. It is an educational philosophy and approach that can be found in all sorts of settings, from small, humble schools to large, well-equipped campuses.

In a nutshell, Montessori schools strive to build peaceful classrooms, have students who show care and responsibility, have a welcoming environment, and help students learn to collaborate and grow into productive and inclusive citizens of the world.

The vision SUIMA has for its students align with these beliefs as we are creating future tribal and world leaders.

See the Southern Ute Drum’s events calendar for SUIMA events and activities throughout the school year.

The Scholastic Book Fair is coming to SUIMA

Mari Jo Owens, Principal
SOUTHERN UTE INDIAN MONTESSORI ACADEMY

Dear Families and Community Members – Get ready! The Scholastic Book Fair is coming our way (YAY!). Choosing their own books empowers kids and inspires them to become Bolder, Prouder, and Stronger Readers. AND – as always – every book they buy earns rewards for our school.

Here’s what you need to know about the Fair, which will take place from Monday, April 3 – Friday, April 7, in the Dining Hall.

- We will be open on:
- Monday, April 3: 7:30 a.m. – 4 p.m.
 - Tuesday, April 4: 7:30 a.m. – 6 pm
 - Wednesday, April 5: 7:30 a.m. – 4 p.m.
 - Thursday, April 6: 7:30 a.m. – 4 p.m.
 - Friday, April 7: 7:30 a.m. – 8:30 a.m.

This year, say goodbye to cash and hello to eWallet-your child’s digital payment account. Before the Book Fair, set up eWallet for worry-free, cash-free purchases. Anyone can contribute! Share each child’s eWallet so friends and family can add funds and give your kids more books to enjoy.

If you can’t make it to the Book Fair, then shop at our school’s Online Book Fair. All orders ship directly to your home, and shipping is free for book orders over $25. Your online orders will also benefit our school.

Visit our Book Fair homepage to learn more and get started with eWallet and online shopping: <https://www.scholastic.com/bf/southernuteacademy>

The countdown to more book joy is on! Catch you at the Fair! Happy reading,

This annual award is in memory of Elbert J. Floyd and is presented by Mr. Floyd's children and grandchildren to a deserving Southern Ute student.

Pre-School Coming to Ignacio School District

AUGUST 2023

SIGN UP NOW

Governor Polis has cleared the way for Universal Preschool (UPK) across the state. The Ignacio School District and IELP will be working in collaboration to serve our pre-kinder students. All children who are four years old (one year away from kindergarten) will qualify for at least 15 hours per week beginning in August of 2023. Children with at-risk factors will qualify for 30 hours per week.

Please consider signing up for preschool in Ignacio as soon as possible. It must be done on the State website at UPK.Colorado.gov. Please select the Ignacio Early Learning Program (IELP).

It is important to know how many students will be attending in the fall to ensure staffing, classrooms, and resources will meet the needs of our learners.

Ignacio School District gives update on Strategic Plan

District leaders present areas of focus at meeting

By Jeremy Wade Shockley
THE SOUTHERN UTE DRUM

The most recent Strategic Plan informational meeting was held at Ignacio High School, Monday evening, March 13 – where a light meal and refreshments were provided. The meeting is part of a series of meetings the Ignacio School District (ISD) is holding to help guide the district over the next five years. The ISD's strategic planning process encourages community input as ISD looks to the future here in Ignacio, for each of the schools, from elementary up to high school.

“Please come to the meeting to learn about the progress the school district has made on the Strategic Plan,” Ignacio School District Superintendent, Chris deKay emphasized ahead of the public forum. “We have worked hard to stay true to the new school district mission statement, ‘Together we will engage, empower, and prepare all of our learners for the future.’”

The mission statement was created through work done at the first strategic planning meeting in early 2022. “We’ve worked hard to put the mission statement out to the community, something we see as integral,” deKay said.

Last week's presentation took place in the High School Auditorium, where deKay gave the welcome and opening remarks before handing the microphone over to his district leadership team, principles representing each of the four schools and the curriculum director, who gave updates and long-term SMART goals as outlined by the District in their Strategic Plan.

“This is really an opportunity to report out to you – the community,” deKay said.

Focus areas covered in the meeting included academic achievement, staff development and retention, culture and climate, and district operations with set goals of improvement strategies across the board, from increased parent involvement in academic events to providing teacher housing.

BAYFIELD EDUCATION

Bayfield Early Education Center receives accolades

Staff report
BAYFIELD EARLY EDUCATION CENTER

April Schneider Stewart, the Executive Director of the Bayfield Early Education Program, was named the Equity and Inclusion Superstar by the Rocky Mountain Early Childhood Council. This award recognizes a school or childcare center director, administrator, classroom teacher, family childcare home teacher-provider, or FFN provider that offers exceptional work and sensitivity in the area of equity and inclusion for children with disabilities, challenging behaviors, or those requiring greater social-emotional support.

Opening in 1995, Bayfield Early Education Center (BEEP) has served Bayfield area children over the past few decades. Stewart has been at the helm as Director for the past four years, with BEEP for 12 years, and has been in education for over two and a half decades. With a passion for children, Stewart is a biological mom, an adoptive mom, and was a foster mom for 15 years. Over the years, she has taken in children with mental and physical disabilities to show them the potential they have inside themselves and that they are more than just their past.

“This award is a win for our community. It highlights our determination at BEEP to see hope instead of limits, people instead of data, and the belief that all in our community deserve community.” Stewart said, “Each day I work alongside a team of professionals who are relentless in their passion for Bayfield to have access to a quality early childhood program that leaves an impact. This award signifies that impact.”

Stewart and BEEP maintain and offer various grant and trade opportunities to ensure all families who desire to have their child in the program have access. Additionally, various fundraising events are held throughout the year to keep the cost of tuition at a reasonable level. Winning this award as an educator in small-town Bayfield is especially gratifying as nominees represented regions throughout the state, including Denver.

INDIAN BOARDING SCHOOLS

History Colorado issues third report to Colorado Commission of Indian Affairs

House Bill 22-1327 research continues

Staff report

HISTORY COLORADO

History Colorado’s State Archaeologist, Dr. Holly Norton, presented a third quarterly report about Federal Indian Boarding Schools in Colorado to the Colorado Commission of Indian Affairs (CCIA), Thursday, March 16.

The report outlines the progress to date in implementing the Federal Indian Boarding School Research Program Act (HB 22-1327), which was signed into law by Governor Jared Polis on May 24, 2022. The act directs History Colorado to investigate the lived experiences of students at the one-time federal Native American boarding school in Hesperus, Colo., also referred to as the Fort Lewis Indian Boarding School, as well as identify potential burial places of students who perished while attending the school.

The latest report provides updates on the ongoing research being conducted at the location of the former Fort Lewis Indian Boarding School, work done at The Teller Institute in Grand Junction, Colo. and next steps prior to the issuance of a final report on June 30.

This report is a continuation of the previous reports under the HB 22-1327, which were provided to the CCIA on Sept. 8, 2022 and Dec. 15, 2022.

courtesy History Colorado

The Teller Institute, Grand Junction, Colo.

Fort Lewis Indian Boarding School, Hesperus

Final analysis of remote sensing at the Fort Lewis site is being completed by Statistical Research, Inc (SRI) and the final report is expected to be done by the end of March 2023. These efforts use methods outlined in the September report and are non-ground disturbing, meaning that soils and sediments are not excavated, dug, or removed in any way.

Archival research of the Fort Lewis Indian Boarding School is ongoing from SRI and Alpine Archaeological Consultants, an archaeological consulting firm contracting on this project.

The Teller Institute, Grand Junction

Alpine Archaeological Consultants and AECOM, an infrastructure consulting firm contracting on this project, continue to analyze historical documents related to the Teller Institute and new documents were gathered by the History Colorado team from the National Archives in Washington, D.C. in February. Remote sensing of the Teller Institute has been funded by a State Historical Fund grant issued in December 2022 and is planned for late spring or early summer of 2023.

Next Steps

History Colorado is continuing to investigate archival materials and consult with tribal representatives. Dr. Norton has begun to draft the final report to CCIA which will include final analysis from SRI and summaries of archival research and anticipates at least one additional consultation meeting with tribal representatives prior to the final report’s release on June 30.

A complete collection of the reports and summaries issued on work under HB 22-1327 can be found online at https://drive.google.com/drive/folders/1b-B8RtOmxABogaP9R-jlfMw-rqEzid_V5S

BOYS AND GIRLS CLUB OF THE SOUTHERN UTE INDIAN TRIBE

What does club mean to you?

“Club has a lot of fun activities to do” – BGC club member

Youth of the Month

For this month we have two club members we want to recognize.

Rutilla Jimenez

March Youth of the Month

First is our Junior Youth of the Month which is awarded to Rutilla Jimenez. Rutilla or as we call her Ruti, is new to BGC. For being a new club member, she has naturally clicked with her group members and staff. She brings a ball of energy and always has a smile on her face. Ruti is very caring and respectful. We want to thank her for attending club.

Our second Youth of the Month award goes to Marcia Monte. Marcia comes to club with a good attitude. When she comes to club, she manages to bring a smile to staff’s face. She is super funny; she greets all staff with a “Hello” and gives hugs for goodbye. She shows all six Character Count characteristic, and we thank her for being herself.

Congratulations to both Rutilla and Marcia on behalf of BGCSU staff!

BGC Retreat

BGCSU held our annual retreat on March 4. BGC Board of Directors, staff, Director of Organizational Development, and Southern Ute Tribal Council member Dr. Stacey Oberly all came together away from the office for some informal socializing, collaborative work, and team building. The retreat took place in Durango, Colo. at the Double Tree Hotel. This one-day event ended with dinner and recognition of all BGCSU staff and board members.

IGNACIO COMMUNITY LIBRARY

A day in the life...

By Marcia R. Vining
IGNACIO COMMUNITY LIBRARY

When someone gets hired at the library, we invariably hear them say "I had no idea all this went on here." From creating programs to evaluating and purchasing materials for checkout, there is always plenty to keep staff occupied. Each day is full of variety, but I thought I'd share with you how the library staff might spend their workday.

Upon arriving at 8:30 a.m. we prep the library for opening. We check displays, our information board, the bookdrop and the calendar. Staff sets up the community room for any program to be held that day, whether our planned programming or another group that is using our community room.

We then turn on computers, feed the fish (since we don't have a library cat), process returned books and pull any newly requested items. These items may be for our local patrons but also may be books we send by courier to other libraries in our consortium. During our two-hour desk shifts we handle reader's advisory questions, reference questions, fax and business services and more. We also help with computer questions, printing, and program advertising and sign-up.

When we're not at the service desk we all have our separate areas of responsibility. Ron runs the IdeaLab, our makerspace. With 3D printers (yes, we have three), our electronics supplies, and our video editing we can help you get started on most any project. Ron also has established our first internship program. Currently we have two high school students interning at ICL. We hope that this experience will assist students in developing employment skills as well as understanding what it takes to run the library.

Dixie handles the processing of all library materials, from cataloging each item to ensuring that they are properly labeled, covered or packaged. She oversees the facility as well as planning programs. We're very excited that soon this part will include overseeing our newest addition; the bookmobile!

Dorothy is our service desk manager. She makes sure that things run smoothly on the service side of things. During her day she will be at the service desk, working on the overdue book list, helping with programs, working with the interns on their customer service skills, and she runs a book club once per month.

Lindsay runs the programming at ICL, both for kids and adults. She hosts our weekly storytime, provides programs at the elementary school, facilitates film screenings, author talks and more. If you have ideas for programs you would like to see us offer, contact Lindsay.

For marketing, we rely on Cheyenne. With her photography background, her natural artistic leanings, Cheyenne helps get the word out on library events and offerings. She also puts a smile on our face with some of her social media posts and jokes.

The rest of the staff; Patti, Helen, and Libby, run the service desk, help with programs, computer assistance, readers advisory and so much more. We get to meet new folks in the community and enjoy visiting with those who've been here a lifetime.

As you can see, we have plenty to do to keep offering our community the quality services and materials you've come to expect and to remain at the forefront of library services.

We hope to see you at the Ignacio Community Library soon!

Lady 'Cats kick off new soccer season

IHS strong away, not so much in town

By Joel Priest
SPECIAL TO THE DRUM

Burned for five goals in each half Saturday afternoon, March 18, Ignacio's first 2A Southwestern League match of Spring 2023 didn't go the way head coach Alisha Gullion and first-year assistant/former Lady Bobcat Tori Burch (née Archuleta) would have preferred – even if they weren't facing SWL force Ridgway.

Senior standout Maizy Gordon scored five goals upon IHS Field, plus registered an assist as the Lady Demons improved to 2-0 overall (1-0 SWL) prior to visiting 3A Delta's JV on the 23rd. Sophomore Madi Miller tallied two goals and an assist, freshman Adelyn Gardiner scored twice and assisted on two others, and sophomore Lily Hawkins netted one goal. Senior Eleni Wallin logged two assists in RHS' mercy-rule road victory.

Having had their 3/16 trip to 3A Montezuma-Cortez postponed – but possibly rescheduled for Monday, March 20 – the Lady 'Cats dipped to 0-2, 0-1 SWL after being unable to match the quality of their season-opening effort on the 14th at 3A Alamosa.

In that match, IHS trailed skipper Claire Lara's Mean Moose by just a 2-1 margin going into halftime after senior Harmony Reynolds cashed in sophomore Ollyvia Howe's 26th-minute cross in from AHS goalkeeper Emily Tibbitts' right.

"I was so excited for that," said Howe, a first-year team member. "It was a learning game for everyone. And especially for me; I've never played soccer before, so it was fun."

"To get experience was our main goal when we came here," Gullion said,

"and I went from 'Let's get some experience' to 'Let's win!' as soon as we hit that goal in. I was like, 'Oh my gosh, there it is!' They've had so much growth."

Senior Abby Wubben, admittedly not yet in her best soccer shape despite having ran cross-country during the fall, ended up totaling three goals as Ala-

Trent Daves looked to at last get inside Ignacio pitcher Stoney White Thunder's head in the fourth.

Shortstop Gage Buffington had rapped a leadoff single to left and reached second via second baseman Taber DeJane's short one-out single. Chadd then popped up to Bobcat shortstop Eppie Quintana, but with Kendall Gardner – who'd previously lashed a liner at Quintana – at bat, Daves had Buffington steal third base, thus increasing the number of ways he could score.

None factored into the final mathematics, however, as White Thunder froze Gardner with a called third strike.

"Like, it was all mental," IHS head coach Duke Baker said. "And his mental game – I've coached him since he was, I believe, in third grade – and baseball knowledge is unreal for a freshman."

"It was a huge confidence boost," White Thunder said. "I felt really good."

And though the Bobcats failed to score against Gardner, slinging his second inning of relief, in the bottom of the fourth, White Thunder countered by getting Bulldog pinch-hitter Mike Coffey – who'd already belted a pinch-hit triple in Game 1 off Quintana, IHS' ace when not in the infield – to fly to centerfielder Devante Montoya, then pinch-hitter Liam Hassell to pop up to second baseman Marcus Maez. Atop Daves' order, Taber then managed to beat out an infield single up the third-base line, but White Thunder got Aiden Chadd to fly out to leftfielder Dylan McCaw.

White Thunder then led off the home half of the fifth drawing a walk. A Gardner balk to McCaw advanced him to second, and he reached third when McCaw reached first via a DeJane error. Plunking pinch-hitter Sonny Flores with a pitch, Gardner loaded the bases for leadoff batter Devante Montoya – who'd circled the bases his previous time up, plating Gabe Archuleta in the process, when DCHS rightfielder Josh Kibel couldn't squeeze a fairly routine fly ball.

Montoya (2-4, 2 R, RBI) promptly singled to left, bringing home White Thunder (1-2, 2 R) and pushing McCaw to third. Maez struck out, but Quintana (3-4, R, 3 RBI) quickly singled to center, allowing McCaw to jog in and clinch a 10-0 victory – and White Thunder a shutout in his varsity debut – as Ignacio began their 2023 season taking two at IHS Field.

Having gotten underway on the 13th with an 11-1 loss at 4A Shiprock, N.M., 1A DCHS dipped to 0-3 overall.

"(Baker) told me during practice I was going to pitch ... a couple innings," said White Thunder, who scattered five hits, struck out four, and walked or tagged zero Bulldogs. "Didn't think he was going to keep me in the whole game; he kind of kept it a surprise! I'll just have to go out there every time like it's my last game."

"Stoney's something else; he came out and did his job," Baker said. "Not many people would've expected him to do what he did, but he did ... and he shined. Sky's the limit."

Catcher Phillip Quintana went 1-2 with a walk, run and one RBI, and first baseman Rylan Maez, who retired multiple 'Dogs by receiving throws, doing the splits and managing to keep a toe on the bag, went 1-2 with a walk, run, and an RBI-double punctuating the 2A Bobcats' six-run second against Aiden Chadd (L; 2 IP, 7 H, 6 R, 4 ER, 3 BB, 3 K).

Taber went 2-for-3 in defeat, while Buffington, DeJane and Audric Chadd each finished 1-for-2.

Helping his own cause in Game 1, after beginning the opener beaming Taber and later surrendering an RBI-triple by Buffington plus an infield RBI-single by Aiden Chadd in the afternoon's first frame, Eppie Quintana all but assured Ignacio (2-0 overall) of victory with a bases-clearing double – scoring Flores, Montoya and Marcus Maez – in the bottom of the third when the 'Cats increased a 5-2 advantage to 12-2, and chased DCHS starter Taber (L; 2.1 IP, 3 H, 7 R, 4 ER, 5 BB, 5 K) off the slab.

Buffington (0.2 IP, 2 H, 5 R, 5 ER, 4 BB, HB, 0 K) and first baseman Sheldon Gardner (2.1 IP, H, 2 R, 3 BB, 2 K) followed him on the hill, but IHS secured a 14-4 win as Eppie Quintana (W, CG; 6 IP, 5 H, 4 R, 4 ER, 3 BB, HB, 5 K) scored an unearned run in the Bobcats' fifth, via a failed pick-off attempt of Ambrose Valdez over at first base, and Flores booked an unearned run in the sixth when DeJane, trying to complete a 1-4-3 double play at the expense of batter Marcus Maez (0-2, 3 BB, 2 R, RBI), threw wide of first baseman Coffey as Flores hurried to the hot corner.

Offensively, Eppie Quintana also cracked a two-RBI single, reached via a fielder's choice and also an error, and ended up 2-for-4 with three runs scored and a vicious six batted in. Hitting right after him in Baker's lineup, Phillip Quintana went 3-4 with a double, run and three RBI. Montoya walked twice and reached once via error in finishing 1-3 with three runs and an RBI.

Manning third base defensively, White Thunder went 0-2 but walked twice, scored a run and plated Phillip Quintana with a third-inning RBI-groundout. Valdez fanned twice but walked twice, and leftfielder Elliott Hendren went 0-3 but walked once and scored twice as Ignacio profited from an extra practice day when a scheduling snafu postponed 1A Nuclea's 3/14 visit.

"We definitely took advantage," White Thunder said. "We worked harder than ever so we could beat these guys. I mean, we knew that we're good; we just had to prove it to everyone else."

"Pitching, offense, fielding ... we were on point, all the way around," said Baker. "I'm impressed with these wins."

Aiden Chadd finished 2-for-3 with a double in Game 1. Buffington went 1-3, Taber 1-2 and Coffey 1-2 with a run.

BOBCATS GIRLS BASKETBALL

Ignacio duo caps careers at All-State

Brunson, Reynolds hoop at CCGS showcase

By Joel Priest
SPECIAL TO THE DRUM

Seeing Woodland Park senior Isabella Slocum commandeering the second quarter of the 2023 Colorado Coaches of Girls' Sports All-State, Class 3A game could have been considered something out of a basketball player's bad dream.

Especially Harmony Reynolds' or Laci Brunson's. Or both, as both Ignacio seniors had faced her firsthand just over two weeks prior in the second 3A-Region VI semifinal up in Kersey – after event-hosting Platte Valley, led by seniors Andi Schissler and Bree Bunting, had decimated Rocky Ford by 44 points in the first semi.

And unfortunately, PVHS' potent pair were placed with WPHS' power post Sunday afternoon, March 19, inside Grandview High School's Gymnasium against IHS' talented tandem. With Schissler sinking two three-pointers, Bunting scoring a two-pointer and Colorado Springs-based Fountain Valley's Grace Stansbury draining a trey, the 'Red' team raced out to an 11-0 lead 3:03 into the opening eight-minute quarter and managed to keep Blue at bay the rest of the way in prevailing 75-54.

"Felt like a dream to go out (of high-school basketball) with Harmony because no matter if we were winning or losing, we were having fun together," said Brunson, who drilled a three off the left wing during the third quarter, and added a fourth-quarter deuce for her five points. "It was an honor Means a lot that I got 'All-State' in basketball."

"Playing with everybody that has the same talent – it was fun to watch everybody," Reynolds said. "I mean, I've never seen those girls, but they were pretty good."

Trailing Red 18-10 after the first quarter, thanks to gaining some momentum via two Hailey Blanchard (Colorado Springs The Vanguard School) triples, Blue would have been in better position at halftime to contend, but went into intermission down 35-25 as Slocum asserted herself in the paint to score four baskets. And during the mid-game pause, Blue head coach Anthony Wilson (Brush High School) assigned Reynolds to shade ow Slocum ... who managed just two close-range buckets the rest of the way.

Ignacio's Laci Brunson (left) and Harmony Reynolds leave Strasburg's Autumn Stone no way out along the baseline during the 2023 Colorado Coaches of Girls' Sports All-State Basketball Games' Class 3A feature Sunday afternoon, March 19, at Grandview High School in Aurora, Colo. The two Lady Bobcats and the rest of their Blue team-mates unfortunately lost 75-54 to a loaded Red roster.

Luckily for Red, shooters Amaya Garcia – of Ignacio's Intermountain League rival Centauri, no less – and Payton Carver (Hotchkiss North Fork) totaled two threes and ten third-quarter points, offsetting Ellicott perimeter threat Alyssa Lagasse's two treys and eight points for Blue during the same stanza.

Garcia sent the contest into its fourth and final frame with a three keeping Red ahead, 55-42, and Carver then combined with NFHS teammate Delilah Vasquez to register ten of the eventual victors' last 20 points. Slocum converted a three-point play down the stretch and ended up totaling 15 points – equaling Blanchard's count – while Schissler and Carver each totaled 12. Bunting and Vasquez each finished with ten points, Stansbury totaled seven, Garcia five and Strasburg's Autumn Stone four.

Mirroring Blanchard's three threes in defeat, Lagasse joined her in double figures by totaling 11 points. FVHS' Ava Warner, opposing her teammate Stansbury, ended up with eight, Brush's Kashlynn Tadolini chipped in four, Fort Collins Liberty Common's Ruby Richardson three and Estes Park's Bree Wilkerson two.

Reynolds ended up scoring six points, with her last hoop resulting from running ahead of pursuers and onto a lengthy Brunson outlet pass for an easy transition layup – a play seen frequently during the duo's decorated days in uniform at IHS.

"Honestly, I had a blast," said Reynolds. "I mean, she is my best friend and so I don't think I could have done it without her; we do everything together."

And that included receiving the news initially naming them CCGS All-Staters.

"It's a goal I've wished to accomplish for a long time," Brunson said. "I'd found out that I was picked, and then the (CCGS) lady called and told us that Harmony was picked – we were sitting in our cars and Harmony screamed! Then I started screaming! We were just so excited we'd both made it; we couldn't have imagined it any other way."

"And it was a fun experience to play with girls that knew basketball like we did."

BOBCATS TRACK & FIELD

IHS Track gets underway in Durango

Personnel numbers not yet up to speed

By Joel Priest
SPECIAL TO THE DRUM

With a best heave of 34 feet, one inch, thrower Kyle Rima got Ignacio's Spring 2023 track-and-field season underway placing third in the shot put Friday, March 17, at the Bayfield Invitational.

Only BHS junior Gabriel Archuleta (40'0.5") and Dove Creek senior Asher Nye (34'6") threw farther as the veteran junior earned six of IHS' 12 team points at the meet, relocated to Durango High School (DHS) due to conditions inside Wolverine Country Stadium. Overall, the Bobcats placed eighth in the boys' standings, while DHS (244 points) had no problem grabbing first place.

Montezuma-Cortez bettered Dove Creek 98-79 in a much closer race for runner-up status, Pagosa Springs (54) edged Bayfield (50) for fourth place, and Mancos (26) and Dolores (17) bridged the gap back to Ignacio.

IHS sophomore Kendrick Nossaman finished 11th in the 400-meter dash, but with several Durango entrants' times excluded after the Demons clocked the four fastest times and nine of the top ten, his 57.54 was worth four team points. Freshmen James Martin and Dillon Brann finished 11th (2:45.59) and 12th (2:45.99) in the 800, but did not factor into the specialty's scoring.

Martin, however, did earn two points via his seventh-place 5:55.15 in the 1,600. Brann did not compete in the event, but did run the 110-meter hurdles and placed 10th in 22.70 seconds.

Also, Nossaman placed 21st in the 200 meters with a 26.64, while Brann (30.88) and Martin (32.15) came in 32nd and 33rd overall. Freshman Zane Pontine ended up 34th in the 100 (14.78), and freshman Evan Perkins took 22nd in the shot (16'11").

Numbers were lacking even more for the scoreless Lady 'Cats, but junior Moriah Ashley just missed earning a point via her ninth-place 3:50.62 in the 800 – won in 2:26.34 by Durango sophomore Sofia Voss. Ashley also placed tenth in the 1,600, her 8:01.67 trailing Voss' winning 5:25.77 (runner-up Teagan Archer, a Mancos sophomore, was more than 23 seconds behind).

Freshman Samantha Riddell was entered in the high jump, but was one of six not clearing the minimum height.

In the team standings, Durango and Pagosa Springs reportedly each totaled 179.5 points. M-CHS (64) then followed, pursued by Mancos (55), BHS (52), Dove Creek (35) and Dolores (24).

IHS is set to next see action Saturday, March 25, in Farmington, N.M., at FHS' Scorpion Invitational. Competition inside Hutchison Stadium is scheduled to begin at 8:30 a.m. As of press time Monday evening, March 20, Ignacio was one of seven squads registered, with no fewer than 13 others – including several teams present in Durango – slated to attend.

mosa ultimately prevailed 5-1 in a contest much closer than what the scoreboard showed. Reynolds, in fact, nearly netted a second goal for the guests but zipped a 66th-minute breakaway opportunity just wide of Tibbitts' vulnerable framework. Wubben, meanwhile, completed her hat trick in the 70th by intercepting an IHS clearance and subsequently capitalizing.

Freshman sister Jayden Wubben, meanwhile, scored the very first goal by knocking in senior Annahi Molina's third-minute shot escaping the grip of Ignacio senior goalie Trinity Strohl. Molina later netted the first goal after intermission, converting an Abby Wubben pass into a 42nd-minute strike.

But despite being decidedly out pressured, leading to the Moose owning a 6-2 edge in corner kicks and Strohl having to make (unofficially) ten true saves compared to sophomore Tibbitts' three, the Lady 'Cats seemed content with an upbeat effort coming just days after Mother Nature finally permitted practice upon their own pitch.

"Personally, I have a lot of expectations, especially being a senior ... showing play-

RESERVATION ECONOMIC SUMMIT

Native American 40 Under 40 award recipients announced

Staff report
NATIONAL CENTER FOR AMERICAN INDIAN ENTERPRISE
DEVELOPMENT

The National Center for American Indian Enterprise Development (The National Center) announced the 2023 class of Native American 40 Under 40 award recipients. The Native American 40 Under 40 awards represent the best and brightest emerging Indian Country leaders. Every year, 40 American Indian, Alaska Native, and Native Hawaiian leaders under the age of 40 are inducted in recognition of their leadership, initiative, and dedication to their communities. Started in 2009, past 40 Under 40 award winners include leaders working in numerous fields including academia, government, non-profits, tourism, conservation, technology, medicine, sports and entertainment, and more.

This year, The National Center will resume the tradition of honoring Native American 40 Under 40 awardees during an in-person reception at the Reservation Economic Summit. It will take place on Tuesday, April 4, 6 p.m. – 9 p.m. PST at Caesars Hotel & Casino in Las Vegas, Nev. To learn more about attending the 2023 Native American 40 Under 40 reception and other RES events, <https://res.ncaied.org/>. You can also learn more about the winners on social media using #NCAIED40U40.

“The 2023 Native American 40 Under 40 awardees showcase the hard work, perseverance, and dedication that have come to define this prestigious award,” said Chris James, President and CEO of The National Center. “This year’s class includes leaders in a variety of fields from across the country, showcasing the depth and breadth of the current generation of Native leaders. They are truly making a difference in every aspect of American life. I can’t wait to welcome the latest class of 40 Under 40 award winners to the upcoming Reservation Economic Summit, and I hope you’ll join us to celebrate their achievements.”

ABOUT THE NATIONAL CENTER

The National Center for American Indian Enterprise Development is a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization. With over 50 years of assisting American Indian Tribes and their enterprises with business and economic development – The National Center has evolved into the largest national Indian specific business organization in the nation serving over 500 clients and providing over $4 billion in contracts to its clients. The National Center has nine offices throughout the nation with its home office located in Mesa, Arizona. The National Center is actively engaged in helping Tribal Nations and Native businesspeople realize their business goals and are dedicated to putting the whole of Indian Country to work to better the lives of American Indian people - both now... and for generations to come.

EXPRESS YOUR OPINIONS

LIVING IN THE DESERT

The Ute American Indian Tribe once live in the Great Basin area of the Rocky Mountains. The Great Basin runs through the states of Colorado, Utah and Wyoming. Some of the land was good for growing food, but most of it was dry desert. In order for the Utes to survive they learned to live off of the land. They farmed and ate roots, seeds and insects. Sometimes they hunted animals such as antelope, jack rabbits, squirrels and other small animals. The Utes were skilled at finding and hunting for food in their dry desert land.

 ATTENTION SOUTHERN UTE TRIBAL MEMBERSHIP**

Construction Services will be taking calls for one month starting March 24, 2023, and ending April 24, 2023, to gauge the level of interest for 450 cubic yards of Recycled Asphalt Paving (RAP) recovered from the Cedar Point Housing Road Improvement Project. Depending on level of interest and number of individuals requesting material, maximum material amount per individual will be determined. Supposing there is more interest than material, a lottery system will be utilized (10CY will be the minimum amount provided to any given individual)

The milling is currently located behind the Construction Services Division (CSD) yard. Millings or reclaimed asphalt pavement (RAP) is the term given to removed and/or reprocessed pavement materials containing asphalt and aggregates. These materials are generated when asphalt pavements are removed for reconstruction, resurfacing, or to obtain access to buried utilities. The timing was selected to ensure that RAP would be delivered on a warm day and before the hottest time of the year to improve material placement and longevity.

Construction Services is offering these millings to the Tribal Membership within the exterior boundaries on a first-come, first-serve basis. The Construction Services Heavy equipment crew will load the millings into a commercially licensed, tandem dump truck, to be delivered to your residence.

*(Haul and dump-spread only) This means that heavy equipment will haul the material and spread it with the dump truck. The truck delivery cost will be $65.00 per load. RAP will be hauled after the advertisement period listed above.

Please call Construction Services at 970-563-0260 if you are interested.

REQUEST FOR PROPOSALS Fiber Optic Construction Contractor for Phase II of the Tribe's Broadband Modernization Project

Southern Ute Shared Services (SUSS), a division of the Southern Ute Indian Tribe (Tribe), requests a written response to a Request for Proposal (RFP) for consideration to enter into a Professional Services Agreement to be the construction contractor for a large-scale broadband fiber optic infrastructure project. The selected contractor will build the fiber optic infrastructure that has already been engineered in advance of the Tribe being awarded a grant through the National Telecommunications and Information Administration's (NTIA) Tribal Broadband Connectivity Program. The Tribe completed all design and engineering work that was the basis of the NTIA application for this phase. Phase II will expand the backbone network from Phase I to build a fiber-to-the-home (FTTH) network reaching most of the native American households within the Reservation (i.e., approximately 1,798 homes). Approximately 300 miles of fiber will be installed with a completion date targeted for December 2025. Email proposal submittals and questions to SUSS: Attn: Delbert Cuthair, Broadband and Digital Equity Manager, PO Box 367, Ignacio, CO 81137. Email: dcuthair@southernute.com, 970- 563-5627. Full RFP details are found online at <https://www.southernute-nsn.gov/broadband-modernization-project>. Proposals will be received through March 31, 2023. The Southern Ute Indian Tribe Tribal Employee Rights Office (TERO) has established a preference for contracting and subcontracting to certified Indian owned businesses. For information on certification, contact TERO at 970-563-0117. The Tribe reserves the right to reject any and all bids and to accept the bid deemed, in the opinion of the Tribe, to be in the best interest of the SUIT.

REQUEST FOR PROPOSALS Environmental Consulting Support Services for the Southern Ute Indian Tribe's Fiber Optic Installation

Southern Ute Shared Services (SUSS), a division of the Southern Ute Indian Tribe (Tribe), requests a written response to a Request for Proposal (RFP) for consideration to enter into a Professional Services Agreement to perform on demand environmental services to comply with the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA), including Environmental Assessments, Categorical Exclusions, Biological Assessments, and general environmental permitting support services for a large-scale broadband infrastructure project. The selected Consultant will enter into a three (3) year contract. All work requested by the Tribe under this RFP will occur both on and off the Reservation in La Plata and Archaleta Counties. Email proposal submittals and questions to SUSS: Attn: Delbert Cuthair, Broadband and Digital Equity Manager, PO Box 367, Ignacio, CO 81137. Email: dcuthair@southernute.com, 970- 563-5627. Full RFP details are found online at: https://www.southernute-nsn.gov/wp-content/uploads/sites/15/2023/03/RFP_BB_Phase-II_Enviro-20230303-Final.pdf . Proposals will be received through March 31, 2023. The Southern Ute Indian Tribe Tribal Employee Rights Office (TERO) has established a preference for contracting and subcontracting to certified Indian owned businesses. For information on certification, contact TERO at 970-563-0117. The Tribe reserves the right to reject any and all bids and to accept the bid deemed, in the opinion of the Tribe, to be in the best interest of the SUIT.

LA PLATA ELECTRIC ASSOCIATION

LPEA seeks members due to receive Capital Credit refunds

Staff report

LA PLATA ELECTRIC ASSOCIATION

La Plata Electric Association (LPEA) is seeking current and former members who are due to receive Capital Credit refund monies. Capital Credits represent member investment in the cooperative and are credited to members based on the amount of electricity they consume.

As a cooperative utility owned by its members, LPEA regularly returns Capital Credits to its membership. Each year, the LPEA Board of Directors determines how many Capital Credits should be retired based on the cooperative's financial situation. Those funds are then returned to members as a bill credit or check. Sometimes these checks go uncashed, or LPEA cannot find a valid address on file to remit them.

After three years, these funds become "unclaimed" and are then used for educational or charitable purposes as determined by the LPEA Board of Directors as outlined in LPEA's Bylaws. Unclaimed Capital Credit funds support LPEA's scholarship and grant programs and contribute to educational and non-profit community projects in La Plata and Archuleta counties.

The complete list of unclaimed Capital Credits is available at lpea.coop/ucc. It will also be published as an insert in the Durango Herald and the Pagosa Springs Sun. To claim funds, members must call LPEA directly at 970-247-5786.

LPEA is a member-owned, not-for-profit electric distribution cooperative serving La Plata and Archuleta, with segments of Hinsdale, Mineral, and San Juan counties. LPEA is the fifth largest cooperative of 22 in Colorado and aims to provide safe, reliable electricity at the lowest reasonable cost to approximately 35,000 members. Contact LPEA at 970-247-5786 or visit lpea.coop for more information.

Did you know?!

This year, the official day of astronomical spring, also called spring equinox or vernal equinox, in the Northern Hemisphere is Monday, March 20. During this time, both the Northern and Southern Hemispheres receive roughly equal amounts of sunlight. The amount of daylight has been increasing each day since the winter solstice and will continue until the summer solstice in June.
